Bombardment by Day Starts Against Saigon

Rockets Hurlled Into Heart Of Vietnamese Capital During Morning Rush Hour

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong switched to daytime bombardment of Saigon today, slamming some 30 big rockets into the heart of the city during the morning rush hour. The barrage killed at least 19 Vietnamese civilians and wounded 106.

It was the heaviest casualty toll—and the first major daytime bombardment—since the Viet Cong began almost daily shelling of the capital 38 days ago. The barrages have killed at least 128 persons and wounded 519.

The six-foot 122mm rockets exploded in the vicinity of major government buildings but did little damage to most of them. However, one landed on the roof of the government communications headquarters and knocked out most telecommunications abroad, including lines leased by a number of American firms.

U. S. Military Asked to Move Base in Japan

Crash of Jet Adds To Growing Feeling Against Installations

TOKYO (AP) — Troubles increased for the U.S. military in Japan today. A special committee of Japanese cabinet members urged that the United States be asked to relocate an air base. The Tokyo City Council demanded a ban on visits by nuclear warships and student demonstrators blocked a gunpowder shipment.

Sentiment against American bases in Japan, which is constantly fanned by the Socialists in their campaign to scrap the U.S.-Japan security treaty, increased markedly this month after an American jet based at Itazuke Air Base crashed on the Kyushu University campus.

Despite a U.S. promise to curtail night flights, the cabinet committee recommended that Prime Minister Eisaku Sato ask the United States to move the air base to another site.

Alternate Locations
Chief Cabinet Secretary Toshio Kimura said even if the full cabinet agrees, no formal request will be made to U.S. authorities until a number of alternate locations can be offered.

The U.S. Embassy declined to comment until a formal request is made by Sato.

Sources said the Japanese are considering asking the United States to share the Japanese air bases, at Tsukiji or Miyazaki, which like Itazuke are on Kyushu, Japan's southern island.

World's Different Upside Down

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — John Thomas Zimmerman emerged from his dim, topsyturvy world Monday and promptly got sick.

His world had been topsyturvy because for three weeks, his only vision had been through strange-looking glasses that made everything he saw appear upside down and backwards.

His world had been dim because the glasses afforded only a narrow, barely light 7-degree field of vision, compared with normal vision of about 180 degrees.

The nausea came when he took off the glasses and found himself dizzy and disoriented at seeing things right side up again.

Despite the discomfort, the 19-year-old Zimmerman was pleased because his experiment had been fruitful.

The study, and a 2½-month stint with right side up, but reversed, glasses before that, were aimed at learning how mind and body reactions adapt when the eyes see things as they are not.

Eventually, he said, it is hoped the pilot studies will assist man in helping the mind and body—possibly with the aid of hypnosis—conquer vision defects. Zimmerman, a freshman at the University of Colorado, has been nearsighted since he was born prematurely, tipping the scales at 30 ounces.

For his latest tests, he wore glasses with periscope-like prisms mounted on them.

"It feels like I'm walking upside down," he said. A firsthand view through the odd spectacles—while Zimmerman kept his eyes closed—showed such sensations as watching one's own feet appear to be approaching, and instinctively reaching to meet a proffered handshake with the left hand.

Zimmerman was able to get around rather well, though his motions were of necessity deliberate. With the limited field of view, "it's a choice of watching where I'm going and stumbling over something, or watching my feet and not knowing where I'm going," he said.

There were some embarrassing moments too. He said a girl friend and another girl were standing beside each other, and with the vision reversed, "I hugged the wrong one. They both gave me heck."

Extradition Process Started

Plans for Quickest, Safest Return of Ray Being Laid

LONDON (AP) — U.S. legal experts worked today on plans to take James Earl Ray quickly and safely back to the United States for trial while police on both sides of the Atlantic continued their investigation to learn whether Ray had helped in his four-nation flight.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday night by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Some legal experts suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was held in Brixton Prison after his two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun, the charges on which he was arrested at London Airport Saturday under the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Prison Blackout
Police equipped with walkietalkies threw a cordon around the prison and blocked all roads leading to it. Unauthorized persons were kept at least 150 yards away.

Scotland Yard was reported planning to move Ray from Brixton, three miles south of downtown London, to Wandsworth, a jail in a western suburb. Security at Wandsworth has been tightened since Ronald Arthur Briggs, one of the Great Train Robbers, disappeared over the wall there four years ago.

Ray at his first court appearance Monday was assigned a British lawyer at his own request and ordered held without

Transplant Survivor

Blaiberg III With Liver Complication

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient, received emergency treatment for a liver complication today, Groote Schuur Hospital announced.

"His condition is not critical," Barnard told newsmen. "But I am disappointed that this happened. I have not given up hope."

A hospital bulletin said the exact cause of the liver ailment was not yet certain. Blaiberg's wife, Eileen, appeared extremely concerned as she entered the hospital.

Blaiberg, 59, returned to the hospital for routine tests June 4, five months and two days after he received the world's third transplanted human heart. He was transferred Monday to the special sterilized suite he had occupied after the operation.

Chest Infection

Meanwhile Britain's heart transplant patient, Frederick West, 45, was suffering from a chest infection that developed three days ago. But the National Heart Hospital in London said he improved slightly Monday night and the improvement was maintained today. West was operated on May 3.

Blaiberg received his new heart in the Groote Schuur team's second transplant. The first was performed on Louis Washkansky Dec. 3 but he died 18 days later of pneumonia.

Since the historic first transplant operation on Washkansky, 20 other heart transplants have been performed around the world. Six of the recipients are still alive.

Doctors had consistently reported Blaiberg's condition as "excellent" since his Jan. 2 operation. He recovered steadily after the surgery, and was sent home on March 16.

Since then he has returned to the hospital twice a week for checkups and spent a week in the general ward last month for routine medical tests. "I am feeling fine," he said then. "There is no cause for concern."

Stop and Frisk

Policeman's Judgment Gets Approval of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, accused for years of handcuffing the police, today has bowed to the judgment of the cop on the beat.

As a practical matter, said the court, the cop doesn't have to stop a person on the street for investigation even if he can't be expected to run off to a judge for a warrant every time his practiced eye picks out suspicious behavior.

Moreover, the eight agreed, it is only reasonable that he pat down the suspect or suspects if he has the right to frisk the suspect, Warren footnoted his opinion with FBI statistics of 335 killed and 23,851 wounded from 1960 through 1966; 23,851 answered with a bullet or a knife-sweep.

Such a search is a reasonable search under the fourth amendment, the justices concluded, "and any weapons seized may properly be introduced in evidence against the person from whom they were taken."

Chief Justice Earl Warren assigned himself the job of announcing the landmark criminal law decision, as he has so often in the past.

It is precisely the government's interest in "effective crime prevention and detection," Warren said, that justifies stopping people on the street for investigation even if he can't be expected to run off to a judge for a warrant every time his practiced eye picks out suspicious behavior.

New Crisis Threatens in France

PARIS (AP) — A Communist union militant was killed today in a clash with riot police in a provincial city as student and striker turmoil threatened to plunge France into a new major crisis.

In Paris, Latin Quarter university students rioted and built barricades and appealed to the trade unions and people of Paris to join them in a mass demonstration tonight against President Charles de Gaulle's government.

Several thousand Citroen auto plant workers streamed toward the Labor Ministry shouting for "freedom to work" after having been turned back from their plant by strike pickets.

The prefect (governor) of the Sochaux region, Bernard Vau-

gon, told a news conference that the union member, identified only as Beylot, 24, was fatally wounded by a bullet in his chest. The prefect did not say who fired the shot. The bullet was being examined to attempt to determine its origin.

Sharp fighting between riot police and strikers broke out at the Peugeot auto plant at Sochaux after workers had voted narrowly, 2,664-2,615, Monday for a return to work.

The worst fighting occurred when strikers overwhelmed a riot police car, took guns from the car and set it afire. Several shots rang out.

Authorities said that, besides the dead man, 11 strikers and two riot police were injured.

Police Aggression
The metal workers branch of the Communist-run General Confederation of Labor — France's strongest union — issued a statement charging Beylot was a "victim of aggression of the police placed in the service of the bosses by the government, against the metal workers fighting for their demands."

The Peugeot plant strikers are among several hundred thousand holdouts demanding higher wages and other benefits.

The death was the fourth attributed directly or indirectly to the student and strike crisis which began a month ago.

The first was a Lyon police commissioner, Rene Lacroix, who was crushed by a stone-loaded truck pushed by student demonstrators.

A real estate worker, Philippe

Matteron, 26, was found stabbed to death May 26 after a Paris Latin Quarter riot. Gilles Tautin, 17-year-old high school student drowned Monday in the Seine River at Meulan, near Paris. Tautin was with a group of students who were attempting to flee on-coming grenades.

Student Rioting
The student rioting early today in Paris was touched off by Tautin's death, which the students blamed on the gendarmes.

"We are not looking for a fight," Jacques Sauvageot, chief of the National Students' Union, told a news conference, "but if it is forced on us, we accept."

Daniel Cohn-Bendit, 23, a leader of the radical "March 22 group" of students was at the news conference but took no part in its proceedings.

Cohn-Bendit's red hair, for which he has been nicknamed "Danny the Red" was still dyed black, the disguise he used to return clandestinely from exile in his homeland, West Germany.

Newsman and students sat at the conference in the headquarters of the students union wiping their eyes and sniffing from the lingering effects of tear gas used in fighting eight hours earlier between police and students.

Talk With DeGaulle
Premier Georges Pompidou went to the Elysee Palace shortly after noon and spent 40 minutes with President de Gaulle. They obviously discussed the revival of trouble, in which from eight to 10 million workers were at one time on strike.

Angry university students ranged through the Latin Quarter in Paris through the night and clashed with riot police. Police said that 26 persons were hurt, though only one had to be hospitalized, and 22 demonstrators were arrested.

In Paris, several thousand workers from the Citroen auto plant paraded toward the labor ministry, demanding the right to work. Strike pickets stood guard at their plant.

At Flins, near Paris, the Renault auto plant said that 3,529 workers returned today, but more than 6,000 were still off the job. The main Renault plant on the outskirts of Paris also was still strikebound, with the strikers seeking additional wage and other benefits from the government, which runs the huge auto works.

At Lyon, several persons were hurt in a clash between strikers at the Berliet truck plant and technicians. The strikers drove the technicians and a company official from the plant.

Dodd Urges Increase in Gun Control

Senator Introduces Measures Stronger Than Bill Which Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, which has just passed a gun-control bill labeled by President Johnson as too weak, is now considering two tougher measures.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a principal proponent of gun-control, sponsored the bills Monday. They would require federal registration of all firearms and outlaw mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Congress sent to the President last week a measure which would ban mail-order sales of pistols. But Johnson, speaking in strong terms following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said a tougher measure is needed to keep guns out of the hands of irresponsible people. He specified a need to ban sale of long guns through the mails.

As Congress continued to debate gun control, a widespread movement appeared to be developing in which people are turning in their guns to local authorities.

Stores Stop Sales

And some stores have stopped selling guns and ammunition, with one dime store saying it wouldn't even sell toy guns any more.

There were also calls for action from local and state officials as the drive for gun controls was stepped up following the Kennedy shooting.

Dodd's federal registration bill would cover all cases except in states that have their own registration laws. Sources said the only such states are New Jersey and Hawaii.

The penalty for having an unregistered gun under the Dodd bill would be a $2,000 fine and two years in prison.

New Terror Fills City Viet Cong Rockets Blast Saigon With Deadly Cargo

By PETER ARNETT
And ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writers

SAIGON (AP) — The blonde American woman wept uncontrollably over the body of her old amah, blasted into death on Saigon's main street today as she arrived for work with the daily fresh bread.

In the doorway of the apartment building another old Vietnamese woman crouched, her lifeless body bent forward, her hands in supplication. Dust that had settled over her gave the body a ghostlike quality.

The amah—a servant—and the other women were victims of Saigon's new terror, the terror of Viet Cong rockets that slashed into the city this morning, bringing death, mutilation and destruction.

The two old women were killed a block from the Caravelle Hotel. Another of the 122mm projectiles with 100-pound warheads slashed into Kennedy Square, spraying dirt through the open doorway of Saigon's Roman Catholic cathedral and scarring with metal fragments the 20-foot tall statue of the Virgin Mary in the square.

Driver Disintegrated

Across from the cathedral half a dozen rounds tore trees to pieces. On Cong Ly street, one rocket detonated on an overhead street light, killing a man and a woman riding below in a bicycle cab and disintegrating the driver.

The wail of sirens cut through the hot, humid early morning air. Ambulance attendants worked over the wounded being taken to half a dozen hospitals.

One round smashed into two houses at 212-214 Gia Long Street. Sweating American military policemen and Vietnamese firemen, their hands cut by glass and the thorns of a rose bush, carried out the bodies of three adults and a child. Eight others were wounded.

Sgt. Charles M. Brinks of Roseville, Calif., scrambled over a car that had been parked in the courtyard of 212 Gia Long. It was buried under tin roofing, wood splinters, brick and the shredded rose bush.

Leg Nearly Severed

Beside a smoldering mattress he found a woman, her right leg nearly severed. Firemen thrust a stretcher through the gaping doorway and Brinks lifted the woman onto it.

Attorneys Volunteer ACLU Says Sirhan To Pick Lawyer Soon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will choose a lawyer soon, says the American Civil Liberties Union.

The announcement came as investigators continued to probe the murder and Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, remained under tight security guard at Los Angeles County jail. An ACLU lawyer talked with Sirhan.

Ed Cray of the ACLU's Southern California chapter said Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer would confer with officials of the county bar association to choose attorneys from "more than a dozen top lawyers" who have volunteered to take Sirhan's case without pay. He wouldn't name the lawyers.

Leonard S. Janofsky, president-elect of the bar association, issued a statement which said his group had no official request yet to help choose counsel for Sirhan but would act promptly if asked.

Deputy Public Defender

Sirhan, a native of Jordan admitted to the United States as a permanent resident, has been represented by deputy public defender, Wilbur Littlefield.

Meanwhile, the bystander most seriously injured when Kennedy was shot early Wednesday said he doesn't know who fired the shots.

Paul Schrade, 43, western regional director of the United Auto Workers Union, was one of five shot. He and another bystander remain hospitalized in good condition.

His head wrapped in bandages, Schrade told a hospital news conference that he was five or six feet from Kennedy when he saw flashes and heard sounds like explosions.

"I did not see him go down," he said of Kennedy.

Schrade, recovering from a shot in the head, said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents questioned him "I saw nothing in terms of prosecution," Schrade said.

The status of the investigation into the shooting of the New York senator during a celebration of his victory in the state's presidential primary remained secret.

Law enforcement officers, public officials and others connected with the case have been enjoined from discussing details. Superior Court Judge Arthur L. Alarcon's security order came Friday when Sirhan was arraigned on one charge of murder and five counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, who drew fire from other officials for publicly discussing the case last week, was served with the court order Monday.

Detectives said organizing evidence, reports and tape-recorded interviews with witnesses made up much of Monday's work on the case. Twenty-five policemen worked at it.

In another development, Donald R. Wright, presiding judge of the county Superior Court, urged that because of better security arrangements, Sirhan should be tried in the Hall of Justice rather than the new county courthouse.

Brown May Be Charged With Battery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Authorities have dropped an assault case against former pro football star Jimmy Brown in connection with a high-fashion model found injured beneath his second-floor balcony. But he still may face a charge of battery against a police officer.

Miss Bohn-Chin

Deputy Dist. Atty Phillips Mueller said his office would not issue a complaint because of insufficient evidence. After his arrest Brown had been booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

The German-born model, Eva Marie Bohn-Chin, 22, hospitalized in fair condition, wasn't available for comment.

Mueller said his office will file a complaint charging Brown with battery against a police officer, felony.

Brown was arrested Sunday night after neighbors in his West Hollywood apartment reported a fight.

Deputies discovered Mrs. Bohn-Chin semiconscious on the concrete patio about 20 feet below Brown's balcony.

Brown was freed Monday on $12,500 bond.

Doctors said Miss Bohn-Chin had a dislocated shoulder and bruises on her head, mouth and cheeks.

Deputy John Texeira, 165 pounds, said the 228-pound Brown knocked him seven feet with a swing of his left arm, when the officer attempted to enter the apartment.

Carries Out Body

Brinks carried out the body of a little girl, a rag doll with yellow yarn hair still in her arms. Barton pushed aside several large beams to get to another small girl. Her hair was matted with brick dust. She covered her eyes with clenched fists. There was blood on her face but she was not crying.

Inside 212 Gia Long a man in gray pajamas sat beside a mound of bricks and furniture. Hanging crookedly above him was the picture of an elderly couple.

His cheeks stained with tears, the man pushed his hands through his hair.

"Fins—Fins—fins," he said over and over.

But Tanzanian Ambassador Akili B.C. Daniel said it would only "make the nuclear club more exclusive." He accused the big powers of using "black-

War Is the Failure of Diplomacy

Shortly before his resignation as Ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur Goldberg spoke about American power and its uses to the National Press Club. His remarks at this time seem to indicate the trend of American foreign policy by a government burned by its overextension but certainly opposed to a return to the isolationism of the 1930's.

"The same realism requires us to remember that our national power, great as it is, is not unlimited; and that our interests and responsibilities are not unlimited either... America has no choice but to be a world power, but it is under no compulsion to be a world policeman. President Kennedy put his finger on this point when he said: 'The United States is neither omnipotent nor omniscient... we cannot impose our will... we cannot right every wrong or reverse each adversity... there cannot be an American solution for every problem...'"

Goldberg recommended a course between intervention and isolation, pursuing a detente with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe "and to begin a modus vivendi with mainland China." He pointed to the likelihood that the Russians, without publicly disclaiming communism, still look to "an international order in which major powers settle the affairs of the world in a manner convenient to themselves." And he especially recommended a hard look at our policies in Europe since they were born of the cold war and need reassessment. He warned that while "we should encourage, and make our contribution to, the growing liberalization of Eastern Europe..." we must take care "not to interfere in ways which could only defeat, rather than accelerate, this trend."

In all probability this sort of in-between policy has been the aim of all of our presidents since the end of World War II. There was a serious need of the threat of our military strength in Europe when Stalin, either out of fear or ambition, or a combination of both, made it clear he would not cooperate for free and democratic regimes in Eastern Europe or the fringes of Asia. But our presence in Europe seems to have been extended long beyond the time of need when European nations themselves have the economic and military ability to mount something more of their own defenses.

There is also a conflict over when to move and when not to. Despite President Kennedy's stated aims, he did go along with the ill-fated Bay of Pigs adventure although his information must have been erroneous. And the Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson Administrations have all been wrong about the amount of involvement necessary to prevent a Communist regime in Vietnam and undecided about how far the United States should go in trying to determine the government South Vietnam would or should have. The recent frightening events in our own country have undermined our own confidence and that of other peoples that we really did have the answers to all problems in the world or even were on the right track.

Our current role in the world cannot be compared to that when we were a struggling young nation with no real influence or power in world affairs. Nevertheless, we would do well to remember those days when our influence was primarily of example. More than anything else, the world needs moral leadership and in the long run it cannot be established with bullets or behind the scenes deals. Assistance we can and should give as an affluent and hopefully, a compassionate people. But whenever we resort to war, we must acknowledge in this day "in which survival is still an open question," as Ambassador Goldberg said, that our diplomacy has failed.

Farewell, Mr. Holmer

About 18 months ago these columns included an editorial comment headed "Welcome, Mr. Holmer," when the State Board of Resource Development named Freeman Holmer, a high ranking experienced officer of the State of Oregon, to the demanding and sensitive position of chief administrator of the new water protection law that had been adopted by the state legislature.

Now Mr. Holmer, to the considerable surprise of most of his associates in the state government, and the disappointment of many of the private citizens of Wisconsin who are concerned about the protection of our water resources and the improvement of their quality, has abruptly decided to terminate his employment with the state. He has told Gov. Knowles, who unsuccessfully attempted to dissuade him, that he will soon accept an appointment on the Washington staff of the Council of State Governments.

We regret seriously that decision, and like others, we regret that political circumstances beyond his control have apparently been related to it, although he has carefully avoided mentioning them or even acknowledging the suggestion of outsiders that they were involved in his decision.

Mr. Holmer was recruited into the service of the state in a position of commanding responsibility with assurances that the state government has one of the most respected of the career services in the country. He came as a department head. Moreover, he came into one of the most challenging of the jobs that any legislature of recent times has handed to any administrator.

Shortly after his arrival, however, and almost before he had laid the groundwork for his big task, the legislature undertook to reorganize the state government along functional lines, and it appeared to the authors of the plan the legislators finally enacted that one of the most desirable of the consolidations involved the pulling together of the numerous natural resources management and protection services. We endorsed that concept. We continue to support it.

Unfortunately, however, that integration required the redistribution of jobs, rank and authority, and after considerable huffing and puffing, the new Board of Natural Resources decided that Lester P. Voigt, the experienced, respected and entirely competent head of the state Conservation Department, should become commander of the combined operation.

Mr. Holmer was offered the position of deputy secretary, or No. 2 man in the department. But he declined it, evidently preferring, as he put it, to devote his talents and experience in state administration at the service of the country as a whole as a principal staff officer of the Council of State Governments. We are sorry about his decision, without suggesting that anyone is subject to blame for the result.

The Challenge to Our Young People Today

George Kennan, former U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, has sternly criticized some of the Negro and student riots which are, he said, using tactics of "intimidation and blackmail" and could lead to "demagoguery and dictatorship." But he also joins those who consider ours a sick society with a need for immediate diagnosis and treatment.

Mr. Kennan attributes the problems of young people to exactly the sort of situation the young people have been complaining about for the last few years. "The disintegrated family, the bored, overparented parents, the timid secularism of parental and school authorities, the television set, the overcrowded schoolroom and the false freedom of the automobile" are in great part responsible for rebellion and even the trend toward anarchy of the radical student, he said. It will take "a revolution in the social and intellectual and spiritual environment of American childhood and early youth" to make a difference for the generation now growing up or being born.

And so once again the problem has come back to haunt the families of the nation. The father pursuing the almighty dollar, the mother concerned with clubs and prestige, the churches relying on form rather than substance, schools with emphasis upon test results, not learning, too few responsibilities, too much leisure time, and the constant hypocrisies of a society which preaches but does not practice—these are what youth today is primarily protesting.

As Edward Weidner, Chancellor of the University of Wisconsin, Green Bay, points out in a recent report, today's student is "more concerned with moral values" than his parents were. "Specifically, students are quick to notice and criticize the wide differences between pretensions and fact, between moral standards and actions in our society."

But in all their moral concern, the students have generally lacked a major requirement for intelligent reform—humility. This is common with the young. One seldom knows all the answers so clearly as when one is between 18 and perhaps 23. But it seems likely that the fact that peaceful demonstrations got out of hand, that honest dissenting moves were sometimes taken over by groups with other motives, that many of the most vocal youthful leaders had plenty of complaints but few solutions—all this just might bring a sense of humility to the most sincerely concerned young people today. They might even begin to understand how their parents and other adult leaders have compromised with the ideals of right and truth and integrity.

With a clearer understanding of aims, methods and dangers ahead, today's students have a better opportunity to bring about the "revolution in the social, intellectual and spiritual environment" for the next generation.

Happens Again, Police Are Called for Drums, Bugles

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

It happened again??? Some Chronic Complainer called and had the police come to Pierce Park and talk to the Drum and Bugle Corps that they are making too much noise. Why do people have to keep complaining about the noise these boys make with their horns and drums. People must have nothing else to do but gripe about a little noise. Surely it isn't going to hurt any of us to stand it for two hours in each park each week.

Can't you see that the organization is doing something constructive for the youths of today, who get blamed for more than their share of wrongs sometimes. These boys in the Drum and Bugle Corps

Bobby the Man Was Far Different From That of His Public Image

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

NEW YORK — Everybody knew about the Bad Bobby, but those of us who admired Robert Kennedy were not good at communicating his qualities. Now there is sad occasion for another try.

He was the Celt in the Kennedy family. He lacked the grace, wit, style, and detachment of President Kennedy. His feelings were strong feelings, close to the surface.

People in trouble engaged his sympathy foremost of all. The roots of the Community Action Program in the war on poverty go back to the concern he — and perhaps he alone among high officials — felt for juvenile delinquents. "Look at those faces, look at that suffering," he kept exclaiming during the tour of Poland he made in the spring of 1964.

From that feeling flowed his bond with the Negroes in this country. He was emotionally involved with the Black Power leaders he encountered. "Tell it like it is," and other phrases of their idiom crept into his own vocabulary long before they became well known. He cared, he really cared. That is why Mrs. Martin Luther King crossed the continent unbidden to sit for a while beside his deathbed in Los Angeles. That is why Charles Evers said of him the other day: "He wasn't like a Senator. He was like a brother."

FEELINGS WERE STRONG

Because his feelings were strong, he was ill at ease when a course of action was obscure. He had a low tolerance for uncommitment. I think that is why he was so visibly erratic when making up his mind about entering the Presidential race this year — and again about whether to run for the Senate from New York in 1964. In each case, there were no good choices open. Indecision was inevitable, and lying low would have been prudent. But it says something for him, not against him, that he felt, almost self-accusingly, the need to act out the agony in public.

Once a commitment asserted itself, his capacity for disciplined self-abnegation was remarkable. He went to great lengths in behalf of President Kennedy, and for causes that moved him. In these conditions, he was not always sensitive to the sensibilities of other people — particularly other people in comfortable circumstances. Perhaps that is why he was so much hated.

Far more than most public figures, he was willing to surround himself with abler men. The assistants he assembled at the Justice Department were intellectually his superiors by far. His range of friendship — from pop singers through generals to Supreme Court Justices — was truly extraordinary.

Neither was he afraid of learning — even of learning late. To some the seminars at Hickory Hill may have smack-ed of discovering the wheel anew each week. But they were part of the learning process. It is typical of him that when he entered the Senate he got himself a whole new staff of younger men imbued with ideas not familiar to him. "The great thing about Bobby," Carl Kayser, the former White House aide who replaced Robert Oppenheimer as Director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, once said, "is that he is infinitely educable."

RARELY KIDDED HIMSELF

He was served, as he pushed his way in new directions, by a strong sense of the realities. If he sometimes indulged friends with false perspectives, he rarely kidded himself. In the Cuba missile crisis he rejected the advice of those who wanted to bomb first with the blunt comment about a "Pearl Harbor in reverse." He came round nearly 180 degrees on Vietnam, and publicly insisted on his responsibility for the errors of the past. He was probably the first important man to put his finger publicly on the price that would have to be paid for a settlement of the war — giving the other side a legitimate place in the politics of South Vietnam.

With the same uncompromising honesty, he asserted before the California primary that if he lost Oregon his candidacy for the Presidency was "not viable."

Whether he would have made a good president nobody can say with confidence. Still, he had the capacity to identify troubles and to concentrate upon them attention, talents, and resources. He had the sympathy of those whose forbearance the nation now most requires. The country will survive without him, but a main hope for the future has been lost. He died before his hour had yet come round.

Rockefeller Is Hoping To Convince Delegates That Nixon Can't Win

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — On the face of it, the recent visit of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, to Wisconsin delegates to the national nominating convention have been chosen and are bound as tightly to his rival Richard Nixon as performer vice president is a loser.

DEMONSTRATED OWN ABILITY

Rockefeller made an earnest and reasonably plausible argument on that theme with those whom he consulted privately during his quick visit here. Nixon lost the election in 1960 because he failed to carry the big city states, the New York governor explained reasonably enough, and then he asked:

Wyngaard

happens any of his supporters in the whole country.

But on closer examination some Wisconsin politicians have concluded that there was a purpose and a method involved in the sudden Rockefeller courtesy call on Gov. Knowles, the airport interviews and the full-dress news conference in Milwaukee.

The bits and pieces of conversation with those who met him, as they have been straggling into circulation, show that what the New Yorker is trying to do is to convince the country that Nixon cannot win the election, even if he gets the nomination and if enough of the practical Republican politicians have some seeds of doubt in their minds when they reach Miami Beach on August 5, Mr. Rockefeller may bring off the prize in spite of his seemingly motionless candidacy thus far.

COUNTS ON LEANERS

Various compilations by usually reliable organizations suggest that the former vice president already has enough committed votes to lock up the nomination.

But the New Yorker scoffs at such claims. Some hundreds of those supposed Nixon delegates are merely "leaning toward the former vice president, as Rockefeller put it to those with whom he talked here last week. If there are intervening events that hurt Nixon, they will quickly lean in another direction, earnestly toward himself, he believes.

But Rockefeller believes his best chance to upset Nixon, in spite of the apparently unfavorable odds at the moment, is the lingering worry in the minds of many Republicans of all hues, conservatives, moderates and liberals, that the

APPEAL TO HUNGER

A highly organized and nationwide publicity campaign will be keyed to the latent doubts about Nixon that Rockefeller insists remain in influential party circles, and to the hunger of the typical Republican, even of conservative hue, to win the election.

Even many conservatives, he told Wisconsin acquaintances, are more interested in winning than they are in getting a tested conservative — after their one-time favorite conservative, Mr. Goldwater, in 1966.

All of which may seem reasonable to those who prefer Rockefeller, and it is plain that there are many who do. But one difficulty is that he came into the campaign so late and with such seeming hesitation and then declined to expose himself in the primaries as proving grounds. His reply is that he was inextricably involved in his duties in the New York capital where the legislature was in session and he had commanding responsibilities in a difficult fiscal situation.

It remains to be seen whether that explanation will be convincing. But it may be that the GOP convention will be more than a routine affair after all.

Opposite of Violence Is Not Law and Order

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Even more frightening and disturbing than the "violence" in America that everyone talks about is the confusion and contradiction underlying our attitudes toward such violence. Americans, like most people, would laugh at the suggestion that it is necessary to philosowe want them to mean, and to doing.

justify whatever we feel like. Except for India during the moral leadership of Gandhi, no people, no nation, has ever practiced a true philosophy of non-violent resistance. This philosophy seeks to redress civil wrongs by refusing to comply with unjust laws — but with two important provisions.

First, non-violence will not injure anyone else, and second it asks for punishment rather than seeking to avoid it. It literally turns the other cheek, showing thereby that it is morally superior to those whom it opposes.

In the long run, I firmly believe, this is the only way to overcome the cult of violence, the creed of opposing force with force. This was the prescription of Jesus, which no group has been spiritually strong enough to maintain since the founding of Christianity.

Everyone today is crying out against "violence." But many who cry out would merely institute harsher and more repressive laws to combat it; they would enforce despotism in order to crush anarchy; and one is no better than the other.

The real crisis of humanity has nothing to do with ideologies of left and right, black and white, law and order. It has to do with the ultimate confrontation within our own spirit. The men and women in the Ambassador Hotel who cried "Kill him" and "Lynch him" when Senator Kennedy's assault was held are as guilty as he is of supporting violence as against love and reason.

phize well before you can act well, but it happens to be the truth. We need, first of all, to become better philosophers.

What is the opposite of violence? Most people would say "law," but they would be wrong. The opposite of violence is non-violence — and who really believes in that?

Law itself is a neutral medium. Laws that are based on injustice, on discrimination, on repression, are bad laws and must be fought. But we do not know how to fight them.

The "gradualists" want to change such bad laws through legislation, which often does not work; the extremist wants to change them through revolution, which is often a worse cure than the disease it purports to treat.

We do not understand the implications of such words as "law" and "liberty" and "resistance" and "justice." We use them to mean whatever

Big Plans Underway for July 4

Quoted from the Appleton Post for June 15, 1868.

It is with pleasure that we inform the people of Appleton, and surrounding country, that the Fourth of July will be celebrated in this City.

We had confidence in the patriotism of our citizens, and get very strict discipline, true it doesn't hurt them. But did you ever play a horn or drum and get bit by mosquitos and didn't dare move to scratch the bite? Well these boys can't or they have points against them and the corps. Try it once??? My sons came home the other night all bit up, and there were others too. Get the city over there and spray, it should of been done a few weeks ago.

Would you rather have these boys taught to be hoodlums, bums, no good, or whatever name you may have for them? What do the youths of today have to look forward to, but going to the Army and getting killed? Would you like to trade places? So for everyone's sake let the kids have their enjoyment in the Drum and Bugle Corps and keep your complaints to yourself. There is worse noise in the world than the music from these boys???

felt assured that it would find expression in the birth day of our national independence. Committees have been appointed to solicit proceeds to defray expenses of the celebration, and the reception with which they have been received by our business men is unprecedented.

Committees have also been appointed to take charge of the various exercises of the day, and no trouble will be spared to make these exercises as interesting as possible.

Arrangements have been made to have a grand display of fire works in the evening.

And now we would extend a cordial welcome to the farmers and citizens of our neighboring cities to come to Appleton and join with us in celebration. Let us verify the prediction of our revolutionary fathers by the ringing of bells, the blazing of bonfires, the firing of cannon and the illumination of the firmament with the thousand fantastic forms of gunpowder.

Come one, come all, and join with us in the celebration to be held in this City on the Fourth of July next.

Newly commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force from the area were Robert Delapp, Neenah; John Owen, Neenah; David Wege, New London. The men received their commissions during commencement ceremonies at Lawrence College.

The first two won first places in the state competition in their respective divisions and Miss Resch received an honorable mention.

Bitter Kennedy Men Likely To Withdraw From Politics

Teddy Could, but Probably Won't, Rally Top Lieutenants

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — While the Humphrey and McCarthy camps hope for support from friends and followers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the route the Kennedy men seem most likely to take today is a withdrawal from politics for the foreseeable future.

Their feeling was best captured a few hours after Kennedy was shot down in Los Angeles when a trusted political aide who for years had served the Kennedy family turned to a companion and said: "If this is what the political process means, the hell with the political process."

Perhaps this bitterness will pass in the weeks ahead, but nobody can be sure. What is definite is that the Kennedy camp's mood today is radically different from what it was after the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

In 1963, there was an immediate desire to regroup and return to the business of governing the nation. Not long after the President's murder, Robert Kennedy was leading discussions with intimates at Hickory Hill about his and their political futures. There is no interest in any such exercise today.

The able lieutenants — such as Lawrence F. O'Brien and Kenneth P. O'Donnell — who have had two leaders shot from under them show no interest in continuing the game and, barring a shift in mood, plan to absent themselves from the political race of 1968.

The one man who could regroup the Kennedy forces, Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, has no such intention at present. As the last surviving Kennedy brother and head of the clan, he feels deeply his responsibility to

Florida Man Kills Three, Himself In Shooting Spree

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A Lakeland man went berserk Saturday and shot and killed his mother, an older brother and a 7-year-old girl before losing his own life to a bullet, the Polk County Sheriff's office said.

Two other persons were critically wounded in the gunfire.

Chief Deputy Eddie DeReuss identified the gunman as Roy Lee Walden, 54, an employee of a firm that makes gravestones.

Police Inspector John Polson said Walden ended the gunfire by shooting himself with a pistol. "We have no reason for the shooting. All we can say is he just went berserk," Polson said.

Also killed were Walden's mother, Viola Dixon, his brother, Ralph Walden Sr., 57; and Patricia McFarlane, described by DeReuss as Roy Lee Walden's step-daughter.

RFK's Driver Robbed, Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee E. Morrow, personal driver for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was beaten and robbed in the early Sunday hours after being on duty for 24 hours with the grieving family.

Police said Morrow, 45, was stopped by seven juveniles a block from his Northeast Washington home. They hit him in the face with a stick and took his wallet, containing 50 cents and three gasoline credit cards in Kennedy's name.

Morrow was not seriously hurt, police said.

The youths fled.

Amnesty Day Recovers Book 51 Years Overdue

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — "Tillie the Mennonite Maid" came home Thursday—51 years after the book was checked out from the Minneapolis Public Library.

"We're glad to have Tillie back," said librarian Mrs. Kirk Holmes. "But she's grown quite decrepit. I'm afraid we'll have to take her out of circulation."

The library sponsored a day of amnesty on overdue fines in hopes of getting back some of the 35,000 volumes which have vanished over the last 10 years.

LBJ Expresses Sorrow at Deaths Of 6 Vietnamese

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson has sent South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu a message of condolence over the U.S. helicopter rocket firing that accidentally killed six high South Vietnamese officials in Saigon last Sunday.

A spokesman for Thieu said Saturday that the message also expressed hope that the enemy would not be allowed to exploit the accident to divide the Americans and South Vietnamese.

He quoted the message as saying: "The loss, through a most unfortunate accident, of some of your bravest leaders at their Saigon command post has deeply distressed and saddened me. Our prayers go out to the families of the deceased and I should be most grateful to you personally if you would convey my sincerest condolences to them."

Among those killed when a rocket hit a command post from which they were observing street fighting were: Col. Nguyen Van Luan, Saigon police director; Col. Pho Quoc Chu, Saigon port director, and Maj. Nguyen Bao Thuy, chief of cabinet in the Saigon mayor's office.

Kimberly Tests Fire System

Pole Alarm Boxes
Will be Removed
After Changeover

KIMBERLY — A new fire alarm system will be tried this week and the system will go into effect Friday if everything proves satisfactory in preliminary testing.

Beginning Monday, the new fire siren will be sounded at 5 p.m. each day although the air horn used for fire calls will continue to signal legitimate fire runs during the week.

The new siren will use Civil Defense amplifying system, but will be a unit separate from the Civil Defense alarm signal. The system will make it possible to remove all alarm boxes from poles in the village, which will be done Friday, helping to eliminate false alarms.

Fire phones are to be stationed at five strategic places in the community including one in the fire chief's home, one in each of the assistant chief's homes, one in the boiler shed at Kimberly-Clark mill and one in the village hall.

The police department also will be provided with a signal which will trigger an alarm in the event they receive a fire call. A brochure, explaining the new system and containing a sticker to be attached to phones which will give the fire number, will be distributed to every residence in the city.

An estimated 45 drivers and mechanics at the Black Creek-based Murphy Construction Co. will decide this morning if they want union representation.

Employees of the firm, which has operations at New London, Black Creek and Kaukauna, can elect to be represented by Local 563 or continue to have no union.

The Teamsters are presently the bargaining agent for drivers of the Murphy firm's ready-mix operation.

No Laugh in Every Glass

'Funny Face' Ad Draws Attention Of Four-Year-Old

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Attention soft drink companies everywhere: There's a four-year-old consumer affairs expert after you! A young Milwaukeean has taken his complaints to the top, and the Wisconsin attorney general — who has made a few campaign speeches in recent years on consumer protection — has responded with the almost full force of his office. "Dear Funny Face Company," read the complaint that arrived recently. "My name is John Thale, and I am four years old. I tried your Funny Face Orange Drink and I want to complain that it didn't have a 'laugh in every glass' like it was supposed to. What are you going to do about this?" the youngster emphatically asked.

He scrawled his legal "X" and added as a postscript, "Additional copies are being sent to Wisconsin Attorney General Bronson LaFollette and Director of Consumer Affairs Betty Furness."

"Dear Master Thale," replied LaFollette. "I received a copy of your recent letter complaining of alleged deceptive advertising practices being used in connection with the sale of 'Funny Face Orange Drink.'"

"I have personally investigated the matter, and must disagree with your conclusion that there is not a 'laugh in every glass.' When I sampled the first glass I accidentally spilled half of the drink (along with a very large ice cube) down the front of my shirt collar. I laughed. Mrs. LaFollette did not laugh.

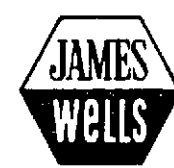

"So you see, it is a matter of sampling technique more than anything else. Although not at all recommended for children an acquaintance of mine manages to get several laughs out of each glass of 'Funny Face' by simply using gin wherever the mixing directions call for water. "This is, however, a highly advanced consumer sampling technique, not at all suitable for persons under 21.

"I appreciate your efforts in the field of consumer affairs, and I thank you for bringing this matter to my attention," replied the state's attorney.

Conradt Seeks Re-Election to State Assembly

GOP Lawmaker
Being Opposed
By Tobias Roth

Assemblyman Ervin Conradt, route 2, Shiocton, has taken out nomination papers seeking his third term representing Outagamie County's 3rd Assembly District.
He is being opposed for the Republican nomination by Tobias Roth. The 3rd District includes Appleton wards 15-19, New London 3rd Ward; towns of Black Creek, Bovina, Center, Cicero, Dale, Deer Creek, Ellington, Grand Chute, Greenville, Horton, Liberty, Maine, Maple Creek and the villages of Bear Creek, Black Creek, Hortonville and Shiocton.
Conradt is vice chairman of the Assembly's highway committee, a member of the veterans and military affairs committee and the excise and fees committee. He also is chairman of the interim subcommittee of the legislative highway advisory committee on highway safety.
The assemblyman, who was involved in an Appleton annexation dispute a year ago, said he is not opposed to annexation but only to proposals to permit annexation without giving the people a voice in whether they want to be annexed. He said the city should educate the people on the benefits of annexation and not try to force it on the people.
Conradt said he believed that sooner or later the rural and urban areas of the county must get together to iron out their problems and "the sooner the better for the county."

Illinois Man Is Bound Over

Charged by Police
With Taking Part
In Oneida Burglary

Vernon Dostator, 25, Streamwood, Ill., was bound over to the upper branch of Outagamie County Court Monday following a preliminary hearing on a charge of aiding and abetting in the June 2 burglary of Bob Appleton's Citgo Service Station at Oneida.
Dostator will enter a plea to the charge today before Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Dostator is in jail under $1,500 bond. He has a court-appointed attorney.
Five witnesses, including three persons police said were with Dostator when the burglary was committed, testified at the preliminary hearing.
Appleton, owner of the service station, said he discovered part of a window broken out of his station early the morning of June 2. He said four tires and two batteries were stolen.
Lt. Jack Zuelzke, a sheriff's investigator, said he took Dostator and Douglas Kindness, 24, also of Streamwood, into custody at a rural Oneida home June 2. He said he recovered the stolen property which was hidden in a shed. Zuelzke said he took statements from Kindness and from two 15-year-old Oneida area boys who authorities allege committed the actual burglary.
Kindness last week was placed on one-year probation after he pleaded no contest and was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of the two minor boys. He also testified at Monday's hearing, as did the two boys, who will be referred to Brown County juvenile authorities.
Outagamie authorities allege that Dostator planned and assisted in the burglary and intended to use the tires for his car.

Johnson Seeks Consideration Of Protection for Candidates

Charge to Violence Commission Given in First Formal Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission has formally embarked on a study of violence in America and President Johnson wants the panel to consider whether campaigning candidates should be limited in their physical contact with voters.

Johnson met with the 10-member group at the White House for the first time Monday, signed the executive order creating it for one year and said he was asking Congress to give it subpoena powers.

He also gave it what he called a simple and direct charge in which he expressed the hope it would find "understanding and insight into the kinds of violent aberrations which have struck down public figures and private citizens alike."

Cause of Disrespect

Besides this, Johnson told the commission he hoped it would uncover the causes of disrespect for law and order, violent disruptions by groups and individuals and offer ways to control or prevent such outbreaks.

the former president, that it faced a difficult task.

He suggested among other things that it look into the possibility the seeds of violence are "nurtured through the public's airwaves, the screens of neighborhood theaters, the news media, and other forms of communication that reach the family and our children."

He said he was asking the heads of the major radio-television networks and the Federal Communications Commission to cooperate with the violence study.

just after the barrage troops of the U. S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment swept the area.

The ground troops found five 122mm rockets along with aiming stakes and miscellaneous equipment but no enemy bodies.

The Viet Cong apparently have rocket units on all sides of Saigon, having shelled the capital from the north, west and south as well as the east. A U.S. spokesman said it would take at least four divisions of troops to throw a protective circle around Saigon seven miles out, the maximum range of the big Russian rockets.

Constant Patrols

Instead, the U.S. command says, allied troops constantly patrol the outskirts of Saigon and observation planes and armed helicopters patrol the area 24 hours a day.

Allied radar installations pick up the trajectory of the incoming rockets and guide the counter batteries toward the enemy firing positions. Allied forces also use helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and flareships against the enemy firing positions and send out ground sweeps by infantrymen to comb the area.

However, U.S. officers point out that the enemy gunners can get off several rounds quickly, pull out before the allies can pinpoint the firing positions and retaliate, and resume firing from another previously established position.

23rd Day

The rocket attack today was the 23rd since May 5, when the Viet Cong started a "peace talks" offensive against Saigon. U.S. officers say the Communist command is trying to give the impression of military strength to back up their demands at the Paris talks.

Among the government buildings menaced today was the Independence Palace, the presidential office building in the center of the city. Three houses across the street from it were destroyed, but the palace was not hit.

One rocket landed within 50 yards of the U.S. Embassy, but the embassy was not damaged. Another landed in front of the city hall, setting fire to three parked cars and blowing out windows in a nearby garage and the offices of Air Vietnam, the national airline.

Vietnam Negotiations Resume New Moves Possible at Paris

PARIS (AP) — The possibility of new moves by the United States and North Vietnam focused attention today on the deadlocked Paris peace talks as negotiators prepared to go back to the conference table after a six-day recess.

The meeting Wednesday will be the eighth between U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Xuan Thuy, since the talks opened May 13.

While no one on either side here expects any major breakthrough for some time, perhaps months, Western diplomats expect occasional tactical maneuvers by Hanoi and Washington of importance to the long-range peace outlook.

Harriman returned Monday night from a weekend trip to the United States to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. He also conferred with President Johnson and if he came back with any new ideas they would presumably begin to show up in the discussion Wednesday.

'Special Counselor'

U.S. diplomats also hope to get some indication soon, perhaps Wednesday, of the significance of the assignment to Paris of a member of the North Vietnamese Communist Party politburo. Le Duc Tho arrived a week ago to serve as "special counselor" to Xuan Thuy. He did not attend last Wednesday's meeting, the explanation being that he was tired from traveling. He is expected to show up Wednesday.

Each side is trying to wear away the position of the other by a combination of patience, propaganda and diplomacy—all based on what is happening in the war. With no major victories on either side on the battlefield the positions in Paris have held firm.

The North Vietnamese Communist newspaper, Nhan Dan, revived Monday the 1966 threat of President Ho Chi Minh that his people will fight on for 20 years or longer if necessary to defeat the United States.

Public Opinion

The threat appeared part of Hanoi's continuing effort to maintain public opinion pressure on the United States to stop bombing North Vietnam. The argument is that if the United States doesn't halt the bombing the Paris talks will get nowhere and the war will go on for many years.

U.S. diplomats say privately that Johnson has gone as far as he can to limit attacks on the North without reciprocal moves by Ho Chi Minh to scale down operations. The President argues further cutbacks would increase the danger to U.S. and allied forces in South Vietnam.

Papers Signed for Extradition of Ray

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Buford Ellington today signed "all necessary papers" required for Tennessee's formal request that James Earl Ray be returned from London to Memphis to stand trial for murder in the sniper slaying of Martin Luther King.

A spokesman for the governor's office said the extradition papers were forwarded "to the State Department in Washington."

The spokesman declined to elaborate when asked if the extradition papers cited a Shelby County Grand Jury indictment returned at Memphis for first-degree murder in the April 4 sniper slaying of King.

"We're not going into details at this time," the spokesman, News Secretary Hudley Crockett, replied. "We can only say that the governor has signed all necessary papers."

Arrested Saturday

Ray was arrested Saturday in London by Scotland Yard detectives as he sought to pass immigration officials en route to Brussels, Belgium.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of King, leading civil rights advocate of nonviolence.

Some legal experts also suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien, but other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

Accused of Shooting

Ray is accused of shooting King to death as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis motel where he was staying while preparing to lead a march demonstration on behalf of the city's 1,300 garbage workers.

The workers at that time, and for some time after King's death, were on strike to gain recognition by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. The strike subsequently has been settled, with the workers winning the right of union representation.

Opposition Evident Space Budget Reduced By Over $357 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production cuts beyond the $219.8 million the Senate Space Committee had recommended. He reminded senators repeatedly of the current demand in Congress for reducing federal spending.

The action Monday left an authorized total of $4.01 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Amendment Okayed

While rejecting his original call for a $1-billion reduction on the space authorization, the Senate voted 44 to 25 for Proxmire's amendment to cut $137 million beyond the decrease proposed by the space committee.

In that action, the Senate overruled the committee on its recommendation for $350 million for the Apollo program of manned space exploration after the moon landing.

The Proxmire amendment reduced that amount to the $253.2 million set in the House bill.

Takes Closer Look

He argued the future of the But Congress has been taking space program beyond the a much closer look at space moon landing should be determined by Congress, not by the cause of astronaut deaths, National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, senior Republican on the Space Committee, said cuts below its recommendations would have a crippling effect on the space program.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., also a committee member, said the space program is headed for a 20 per cent budget cut in two years and should not be made to absorb greater decreases than other agencies.

Your Money's Worth Retirees Warned to Beware of Gypsters

BY SYLVIA PORTER (Last in a Series)

Would you, an elderly American, believe that vitamin E is "best known for its direct beneficial effect on the sex organs" and that "serious lack of this vitamin may cause sterility?"

Porter

Would you believe that a special tablet could be "effective for the treatment of rundown and weak conditions ... loss of enjoyment of life ... inability to be the man or woman formerly possible" as well as make it easier for you to endure noisy children, coated tongue and gas?

Would you lay out money to buy mail-order "electronic pulsators," "special stimulants," "geriatric elixirs" or any other chemical or mechanical product advertised as capable of restoring "lost vigor" reviving sexual activity or even rebuilding sex organs?

I hope you wouldn't. As the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey put it: "good health, sufficient exercise and plenty of sleep still remain the most effective aphrodisiacs known to man."

Target of Promoters

But, as an elderly American, you are now the major target of an endless variety of fountain-of-youth promoters in this country. You also are the target of an endless variety of other types of gypsters attempting to bilk you out of your limited retired income.

Even if you are not yet retired, you probably have elderly friends or relatives. Surely you want to help them avoid the gyps which could seriously deplete their modest savings or slash their monthly benefit checks.

Here, from the National Better Business Bureau in New York and Harvest Years, the retirement magazine, is a sampling of today's most widespread gyps and exaggerations aimed at our elderly population:

—In the dance studio racket, men soft-talk lonely, elderly women into buying oversize packages of dancing lessons, payable in advance. In one case, an elderly widow agreed to buy EIGHT "lifetime memberships" in a dance studio, at a cost of $34.93.

—In the "vitamins forever" scheme, mail order houses of questionable reputation persuade the elderly to buy "subscriptions" to geriatric preparations but refuse to act on instructions to stop the cascade of pills.

—In the sphere of often essential supports, hearing aids, eyeglasses and dentures also are being advertised and sold through the mails to the elderly, without benefit of doctors' prescriptions or other data necessary for proper purchases.

High-Pressure

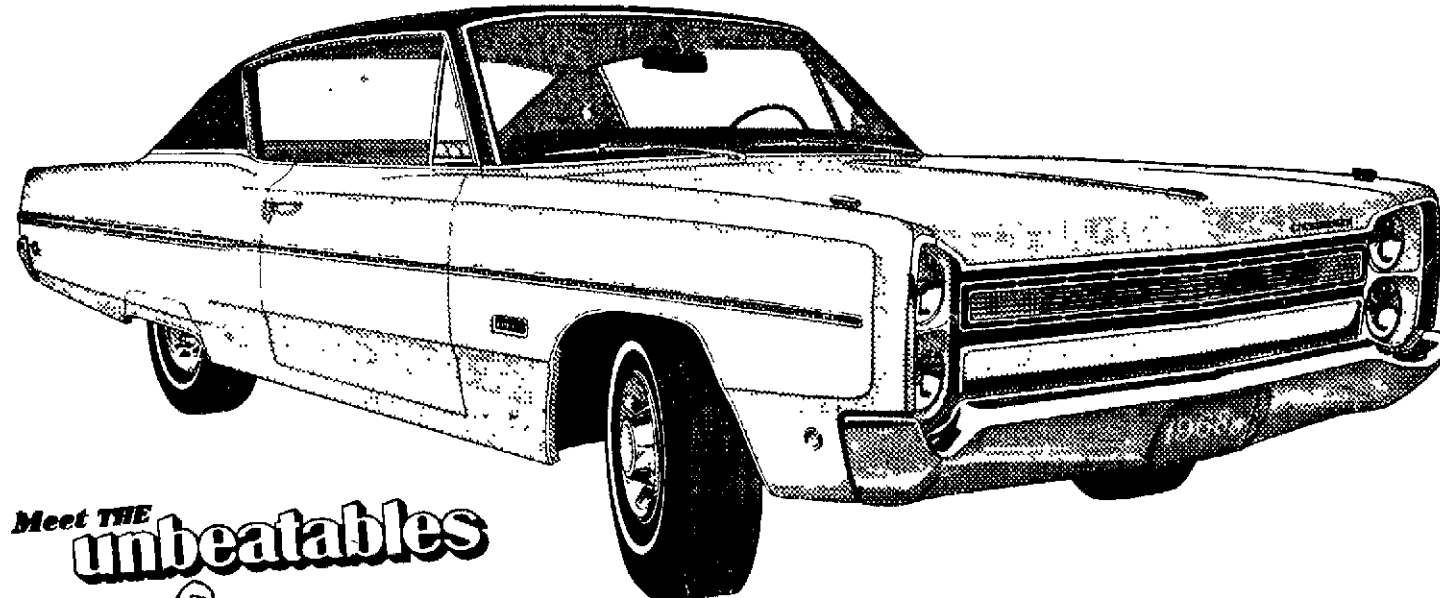

—In the food field, high-pressure promoters are legion. So-called "health foods" are being promoted as capable of supplying astounding amounts of needed extra vitamins and minerals. Many of these are by no means gyps but the fact is that the Food and Drug Administration in Washington has consistently branded them as expensive substitutes for ordinary foods available in the supermarket.

—In the "retirement home" area, racketeers thrive by promoting building sites through the mails for retirement homes at seemingly bargain prices. But the "paradise" described may turn out to be located in the desert or underwater, or on the side of a volcano.

In addition to all these are the stock racketeers, who frequently are able to high-pressure older people into buying worthless securities just because they're so pressed for money and eager to make a fast dollar.

Use this column as a guide to what gyps and exaggerations are directed primarily at you. And use it too for vital clues on how to beat them.

There's only one way to find out why a quarter-million Ford and Chevy owners switched to Plymouth:

Teens Play at 'Game' of Shoplifting

BY MARY WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Shoplifting used to be known as the "housewives crime," but in downtown Appleton, teenagers comprise an estimated 75 per cent of the thieves who are invading College Avenue stores. One manager described himself as "a glorified babysitter."

he commented, adding, "but the small amount of concern most of them show upon being apprehended is discouraging."

"Girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are responsible for 75 to 85 per cent of the teen-age shoplifting here," offered a College Avenue dimestore manager. "And they're with us any day they're free. Usually they work in groups of three with one of them doing the stealing and the other two acting as lookouts."

from 3:30 to 5 p.m., six days a week. Some of the girls we've apprehended with stolen merchandise have been as young as 10 years old," he added.

Another merchant recently arrived from Kansas City was astonished at the amount of stealing done by children. "I've never seen anything like it," he admitted. "Kids think downtown Appleton is a huge playland where they can ride the escalators, buy popcorn and play the game known as 'cobbing' or shoplifting."

Grateful that he was not afflicted with teen-age shoplifting, the manager of a locally owned supermarket chain sympathized with downtown merchants whom he said "were not alone." He revealed by way of explanation that the chain's Menasha manager had been forced to bar children from entering the store during the lunch hour and that the Kaukauna branch would not allow more than three teen-agers in the store at one time at noon.

Expects Increase
The security officer of a large discount store just beyond the city limits has learned to expect an increase in shoplifting during school breaks. "Teen-agers are all aware shoplifting is wrong,"

A sharp eye and familiarity with shoplifting habits has enabled this manager to apprehend more shoplifters than any other downtown merchant, according to police. Recently he and his staff stopped several girls who had failed to pay for merchandise from another store only to discover later that they were part of a loosely-knit group of about 30 junior high school girls involved in shoplifting.

Some months earlier, George Weaver, Appleton juvenile officer, had enlisted the aid of another junior high school girl apprehended for shoplifting to determine by survey how many of her 30 classmates had shoplifted. Twenty-nine admitted to having stolen an item during the preceding two months.

Number One Problem
"There's no doubt that more teen-agers are shoplifting today than ever before and that they're helping themselves to bigger quantities and more expensive items. Shoplifting is Appleton's number one problem with teen-agers," Weaver concluded. Explanations for why Appleton has seen an increase in teenage shoplifting vary. Some merchants attribute the problem to a breakdown in morals.

"In the last five years, I've noticed kids have taken a different attitude toward shoplifting. They don't think it's wrong anymore," reflected one manager. "I think part of the reason is that they're well aware of the protection the law provides for them as juveniles. But there is another side: parents. In a day when it's all right for dad to exceed the speed limit and mom to lie over the telephone, how is the child supposed to know the difference between right and wrong?"

Chet Luce, Department of lifting as a "faddish" activity that begins in junior high. But Weaver traces the origin of the problem to the pre-school and kindergarten days when children often experiment by stealing ice cream bars and candy.

Lacking Parental Love
Chet Luce, Department of Social Services supervisor who is responsible for making juvenile court referrals, observed that every child becomes involved in stealing at least once. "Those who find shoplifting meets a need that isn't normally being satisfied continue to steal," he said. "Maybe the child is lacking parental love, attention or the recognition of his peers. Whatever the problem is, the high rate of shoplifting is an indication that children's emotional needs are not being met — in spite of — or perhaps because of the fact Appleton is a relatively affluent community."

Echoing Luce's sentiments, Weaver told of the distraught parents who can't understand why their children shoplift when they have given them everything.

"Such people," he commented, "might well ask themselves what they do with their children rather than for them."

Designer's message: Many of the designers are featuring the "velvet touch" with their summer cottons. It creates a more elegant look for the summer dress. Easy to do yourself by adding a velvet ribbon belt to any of your checked, flowered or plain colored dresses. Bringing Up Baby.

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

TO BABY TALK—OR NOT TO BABY TALK?

It seems perfectly natural for many grownups to "goo-goo" and "la-la" a baby.

And baby likes it. Particularly when baby talk comes from Mom or Dad—mean most to baby. It's not what you say. The sound of your voice, your special tone make the difference. (Baby would love hearing you use words of four syllables, too!)

When baby starts to talk . . . is, of course, the time for you to speak more clearly. Babies are great imitators!

One of your baby's early words (after "mama" and "dada") may well be "cookie." What could be nicer than Gerber Animal Shaped Cookies? With protein in the cookie, and B-vitamins in the icing, they offer more nourishment than you'd expect from any cookie.

Early and late in babyhood Juices with vitamin C (like Gerber Orange Juice and Gerber Apple Juice) usually start early in baby's diet and continue right on. Baby never outgrows his need for this very important vitamin.

Once baby has grown used to the "one fruit" juices, you can introduce delightful combinations like Orange-Apricot, Apple-Cherry and 6 others. (One can of any Gerber Juice more than meets baby's recommended daily allowance of vitamin C!)

Frozen Fruit Pops
For an older child—a treat with a vitamin-C benefit!
2 cans Gerber Strained Orange Juice
2 jars Gerber Junior Peaches
2 Tbs sugar

Combine ingredients, mix well. Pour into small paper cups, set in freezer until partly frozen. Insert wooden spoon in the center of each cup. Continue freezing until hard. Makes 6 refreshing fruit pops.

Talk about variety! Gerber has 127 nourishing foods created especially for baby. Juices high in vitamin C, meats high in protein. Cereals, fruits, vegetables, dinners and high meat dinners, even desserts. From formula through Junior foods, trust Gerber to provide all the nourishment baby needs. South took the ace of clubs, cashed the king of spades and then led the ten of spades for a finesse. This lost to the queen, and declarer took only four trump tricks, one heart and the two side aces. Down one.

"I didn't guess who had the queen of spades," South admitted, "but I made the only correct play. My way of playing the trumps left it possible to pick up the queen if there were four trumps to my right. That wouldn't be possible if I played the queen of trumps to be at my left."

It sounded very learned, but it

Advertisement NEW WAY TO A BEAUTIFUL BUSTLINE

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect if your bustline were improved? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to acquire this kind of figure perfection. If your bra size is less than 32 and larger than 36, A, B or C, then this new idea is not for you. If your bra size falls within this range, then you can realize a new, youthful, naturally rounded bust silhouette without special exercising or heavy, unnatural padding.

Young Secret is an all-new kind of weightless wonder bra constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the manner in which this bra, once put on, feels just like you. It actually moves as if it were you and looks perfectly natural in every possible way.

The bra itself is of a beautiful nylon lace over a polyester fiberfill that will retain its natural shape for the life of the bra. The straps are comfortably stretchable and easily adjusted. The band is also stretchable for maximum freedom and comfort. This bra gives your figure everything that's possible with a bra.

"Young Secret" bras are the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga. They are available in both fully padded (sizes 32-34-36, A and B) and contour shell cup (C cup size, too) styles. In white, black and fashion shades. They can be found at H. C. Prange Co. and other stores with fashion spirit.

AN EXCITING
WEDDING GIFT!

Lovelier You Vegetable Time

A recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture reveals a serious decline in the consumption of vegetables in this country. The reason is hazy. Surely nutritionists never stop hammering away at the value of vegetables to health. All those natural vitamins, you know!

Do you suppose misguided reducers could be responsible for the drop? It is a fact that most adults attempt to reduce at some time and that most of them are misguided. As a group they eat the wrong kind of foods for successful reduction.

Vegetables are essential to a reducing diet, and not only because of their health-giving properties. At a very low cost in calories, vegetables go far to satisfy the appetite.

For instance: The count of 1 cup of string beans is only 50 calories. And that's a lot of good eating. Coming in at the same amount and count are broccoli flowerettes, carrots spinach and stewed tomatoes. Also for 50 counts you can have 8 stalks of asparagus, 1/2 Idaho potato, 15 radishes, 5 "beefsteak" mushrooms. At 100 calories there's a quart box of

Ann Apologizes to Women Who've Divorced Alcoholics

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a slashing broadside against women who divorce alcoholics. You also stated most cently you printed a slashing be saints. You also stated most cently you printed a slashing be saints. You also stated most cently you printed a slashing be saints.

bands drunk than sober because alcoholism and your sympathy for those who live with it. I wonder if perhaps that particular answer was written while you were out to lunch. It didn't sound like the Ann Landers I have been reading for years.

For years I have been an admirer of your column — special your understanding of alcoholism and your sympathy for those who live with it. I wonder if perhaps that particular answer was written while you were out to lunch. It didn't sound like the Ann Landers I have been reading for years.

I didn't know my husband was an alcoholic until after we had been married several months. He was so clever at concealing his liquor consumption that I could write a book about it. (Gin in the hotwater bottle which he took to bed at night, even during the summer months. Bourbon disguised as cough medicine. Vodka in the glove compartment of the car — in a cleaning fluid bottle.)

Your notion that wives of alcoholics use their husband's drinking as a conversation piece was not the case with me. I was too ashamed.

After eight years of agony, my doctor advised me to give my husband a choice, the bottle or me and the kids. He chose the bottle. I divorced him and my life has been a comparative heaven ever since. Will I marry another alcoholic? Never. I refuse a second date with any man who has more than two drinks during an evening.

Please print my letter. I feel you owe it to the wives of alcoholics who do not fit your description — Free at Last.

Dear Free: Here's your letter and my apologies to the wives who do not follow the classic pattern.

I received dozens of letters lambasting me for my all-inclusive attack and I hereby acknowledge that the criticism was justified.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A neighbor with whom I have been friendly has a heart of gold but he has a slam-bang, unrefined approach which I find abrasive. For example, I have vet to hear her say, "Will you please..." or "I'd appreciate it if you would..." It's always, "I want you to..." or "Get me a such and such..."

I've become accustomed to her lack of grace and I accept it, but it's pretty hard to take orders from her children, ages 10 and 12. They speak just like their mother.

Heat Wave Reaction 2,000 Jam Appleton Pools as Swimming Season Has Opening

Appleton's two municipal pools overflowed with humanity Monday as the swimming season opened here in the wake of a heat wave.

It was estimated attendance at Erb Park and Meade pools easily exceeded 2,000 for the day.

Each of the outdoor facilities has an estimated 1,000 maximum capacity.

Lloyd Koehnke, city recreation director, said in addition to the youthful swimmers there were many who put in an appearance during the day to sign up for swimming lessons.

Lessons conducted over a several-week period now call for a $2 registration fee, up a dollar over last year.

Koehnke said the registration fee for learn-to-swim courses here had been the lowest in the Fox Valley. The $1 increase voted by the park board put Appleton closer to the average, he said.

Koehnke said the Erb Park pool was being watched closely for leakage as there has been trouble during past seasons. It has a capacity of 525,000 gallons compared to 415,000 gallons at Meade.

It was necessary to do considerable patching at Erb Pool this spring, Koehnke said, adding that "fingers are being crossed" in hopes no major leaks develop.

The two outdoor pools are open to the general public for lessons as well as general swimming sessions.

Appleton East High School's indoor pool also is being used for instruction and special swims this summer at a higher registration rate.

Teamsters Win Vote at Murphy Co.

Teamsters Local 563 of Appleton — engaged in a stepped-up organizing campaign in the Fox Cities region — won a representation election today at Black Creek-based Murphy Construction Co.

The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) and covered drivers, mechanics and yardmen at the firm's Black Creek and New London operations.

Lawrence Brennan and John Groth, representing the NLRB, said the results of the election showed 26 workers voted for the teamsters, 10 cast ballots for having no union and one vote was challenged.

The voting took place at New London and Black Creek between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m. when the men reported for work.

All but two of the 39 employees eligible to vote did so.

Local 563 will now be certified to represent 30 Murphy employees at Black Creek and nine at New London in all negotiations on wages, hours and working conditions.

The Teamsters also represent employees in the ready-mix concrete division of the Murphy Co., the latter having operations throughout the region and at DePere.

Problem for COG Guidelines Requested In Grant Application

A federal request that the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) establish guidelines for its review of communities' grant applications is expected to be sent to the policy committee Wednesday at the monthly COG meeting.

The request made by the Department of Housing and Urban Development will be presented to COG at its meeting

COG and other regional organizations were picked in 1965 to review agencies to guarantee that individual communities' projects conform to the regional plan. The federal law requires the review for approval of a grant request.

The guidelines will be another phase of administration refinement, and will help formalize the procedure for reviewing applications. Nine programs from open space to sewer and water are affected by the review.

COG received a letter in May requesting the establishment of the guidelines. The letter came from Kane.

In other business, COG officials will hear a report on mapping requirements for the flood plain management program. It will come from Thomas Lee, program director from the State Department of Natural Resources.

Supt. of Schools William Spears presented the article for information at the board of education meeting Monday night.

The article said the levies for school purposes included funds

For one thing, it would mean that about 175, or 25 per cent, of the students planning to attend next fall would give up the idea of a college education — for financial or emotional reasons.

Those with emotional reasons are the students who either scholastically fear a larger academic environment, at least initially, and the ones who must grow up a little more before leaving home.

One Fox Campus official said the great majority of students are there partly because of financial reasons.

Closing the eight-year-old school would have other effects. It would eliminate the prestige of having an extension of the University of Wisconsin system and the cultural atmosphere that accompanies a college or university.

Board of Education Hires Transportation Director

Clinton Roach to Get $13,000 Salary as Full-Time Coordinator

A full-time director of transportation was hired Monday by the Appleton Board of Education at a salary of nearly $13,000.

He is Clinton Roach, McKinley Elementary School principal who has been with the Appleton district since 1943. Roach, 501 E. Pershing St., Appleton, began teaching in Wisconsin in 1928.

Roach will be responsible for all transportation coordination, a task which was handled part-time by Roland Nock, director of special education. Supt. of schools William Spears told the board the new state transportation law created the need for a full-time director.

Roach will also assist the director of census and attendance.

Opposes Salary Voting against the move was Kenneth Sager. He said he only opposed equating the director of transportation salary with that of a vice principal. Roach is in salary step 17 of class IV, and his exact salary depends on the final outcome of teacher negotiations.

Sager heads the board of education's bargaining team which is attempting to lay the framework for a master contract acceptable to the board and the Appleton Education Association.

Spears said that Nock will work full time with special education. Seventy per cent of his salary is paid by federal aid.

Roach taught six years in

Tarr Sees Changes In Local Structure

Assessments, Home Rule Also Being Studied by Task Force

MENASHA — An interim and local government comes from the Tarr Task Force portends a change in the assessment of property taxes and a reduction in local units of government.

Speaking to the Governmental Affairs Divisions of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce (GOAD) at a breakfast meeting today, Dr. Tarr sounded an alert on what the 13-member study force will be reporting one year from now.

"It will be impossible to provide for all the problems, cut taxes and make everyone happy," he said.

"Maybe happiness is out of date."

"But when we are finished, study the provisions of our reports, see if they make sense, and, if they do, support them," he asked chamber members.

Priorities Listed

Indicating some of the priorities, Dr. Tarr said some of the apparent changes must be: reduction of the number of units; of local government, assignment of functions to appropriate units; of government, reduction of the number of elected officers and greater emphasis on home rule.

"Shared taxes, the property tax rebate, must be changed before we can have an equitable taxing program," Tarr said.

"This calls for a consolidation of the state's 1,837 assessment districts, only a few of which have any kind of professional assessors. It means we have to assess in full value, if the people are to know what assessment is a good one."

Full Value

"Assessment at full value makes for honest assessors, and this takes some expertise to put value on property," he said.

He stated that 97 separate functions of state government are carried out on the basis of full value assessments. "The best way to do this is to build full value assessment, arrived at by judgments at the local level, using trained assessors," he said.

"Everybody says property taxes are too high and seek property tax relief. Forty percent of total revenues of state government are from property taxes."

Fill-in Constable Okayed Town Considers Judge, Squad Car

MENASHA — The Town of Menasha Board flirted again Monday with the idea of expanding the towns law enforcement capacity to include a municipal judge, a squad car and radar equipment.

The discussion of the three proposals came to no conclusion, but the board did pass a motion to hire another deputy constable as a replacement for the present two men on the town force.

Town Constable Robert Weyenberg told the three man board that he needed another man to fill in when he or his assistant were out of town.

"I'm not against having another man," Supv. Frederick Miller said, "but if we're going to go into this, we should go further."

Supv. Robert Wisner said, "I agree we should go further."

Municipal Judge

Town Clerk Robert Jacobs suggested that the town check with the Town of Mount Pleasant to see how they're faring with their municipal judge system. He then read sections of the statutes outlining provisions for municipal judges.

Pointing out that a town judge would probably mean a parallel move of buying a squad car and radar equipment, Town Chairman Roland Kampe reminded Weyenberg that the proposal for radar control had been turned down by the citizens at an annual meeting two years ago.

Kampe suggested that if the town did buy its own squad car, it might be able to save money by purchasing it in combination with the county.

Jacobs said money for the car had been included in the budget in the contingency fund.

The discussion didn't result in action, but it seemed likely to come up again in the near future.

When the idea of hiring a replacement constable first came up, Supv. Frederick Miller bridled at recent Supreme Court decisions, which he said "tied the hands" of law enforcement officers.

"What good is it to have 100 policemen if their hands are tied?" he asked.

Charges Refiled Rape Count Dismissed Against Motorcyclist

WAUPACA — Rape charges against Joseph Bisenius, 20, defendant was arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen Feb. 6 and bound over to County Court. Because Judge Wendell McHenry was on vacation Whalen acted as a magistrate in a court of record and set a preliminary hearing and appointed an attorney for the defendant who had declared himself indigent.

Improper Procedure

The defense attorney claimed his client should have appeared before a court of record and had the judge who would try the case name an attorney and set the hearing date. Laurie Anderson was appointed as counsel but was later replaced by Bisenius.

Waupaca authorities were prepared for such a move on the part of the defense attorney and Sheriff William Mork had another prepared for Bisenius' arrest. He was served before he left the courtroom following this morning's proceedings.

Bisenius was scheduled to return to Municipal Justice Court at 1:30 p.m. today where proceedings would be started again.

Judge Bundee continued the $5,000 bond until his court appearance. After arraignment he will be bound over to County Court.

February Incident

The defendant along with eight other Milwaukee motorcycle gang members were arrested early in February following a weekend party at the abandoned factory.

In addition to the woman allegedly being raped she also was shot in the right shoulder. Police became aware of the incident when gang members dropped her off at a Clintonville Community Hospital for treatment.

Since that time one member of the gang is serving a prison sentence for the shooting and two others have been fined for disorderly conduct. Rape charges against two other gang members are still pending.

Final Try-Outs Tonight for Riverside's Student Prince

NEENAH — Try-outs for the Student Prince Monday night left producer Kenneth Anderson with three male tenors still needed for lead roles, if the summer musical is to go into rehearsal on time.

It is an opportunity for aspiring actors and actresses to meet the new musical director for this summer, Peter Schmalz, music education major at Lawrence University.

"Please, we need voices for a male chorus too," said Anderson.

There will be another try-out session at 6:30 to 9 p.m. today in the Neenah High School auditorium.

Sigmund Romberg's "Student Prince" will be performed by Riverside Players on two weekends, August 15 to 18 and 22 to 25.

Those interested in signing up for crews for any one of the three summer shows, The Odd Couple, July 11-13; Barefoot in the Park, July 25-27, and the musical will meet the new production coordinator, William Heideke.

Both of the new members of Anderson's production staff bring a wide experience this summer to Riverside Players.

Schmalz has conducted the Lawrence Band and his high school band. He is music instructor at Sacred Heart Catholic School, Appleton, and has presented its band in three concerts.

The French horn is his instrument and he has played with the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra, with small woodwind and brass ensembles at Lawrence, the Lawrence Concert Band and the Manitowish Civic Orchestra.

Red' Rudi Released From Hospital

BERLIN (AP) — "Red" Rudi Dutschke, the radical student leader critically wounded by a gunman on Holy Thursday, was released from the hospital Monday and flew to West Germany.

His doctor, Dr. Arno Schulze, said Dutschke was accompanied by his American wife and their baby son, Hosea-Che. They went to Stuttgart, and Dr. Schulze said their eventual destination was outside Germany. He would not say where.

The doctor said Dutschke was shot in the cheek, in the chest and in the brain on West Berlin's main street. For five days after that his young followers rioted in West Berlin and West Germany.

The three bullets were removed by extensive surgery.

Police have accused Josef Bachmann, 23, of shooting Dutschke. Authorities said Bachmann told them he was inspired by the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Twins Cop Title In Cincinnati's Diaper Dash

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials of the annual diaper dash at Cincinnati's Coney Island reversed the field Sunday when frontrunning infants began retracing knee marks to the starting line.

But it proved to be a simple maneuver: The fathers, who were at the finish line scooted around the "track" to the starting line occupied by the mothers who in turn replaced the dads at the finish.

Eleven-month-old Tom Frankey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frankey of White Oak, set the pace—with twin brother Ted taking second a half length behind in the crawling contest.

Financier Claims Tax Boost Need

ALFRED, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph S. Saul, president of the American Stock Exchange, said Sunday, "A tax increase this year is absolutely essential."

Saul spoke at Alfred University after being awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

He said, "If we do not get a tax increase and order the priorities of government expenditures, then, in my opinion, we face a five per cent cost of living increase each year in the future."

New Manager For Goodwill

Charles Lorenz To Head Valley Division for Agency

Charles Lorenz was named Fox Valley Division manager of Goodwill Industries according to an announcement made today by James E. Voster, chairman of the agency's advisory board.

Lorenz, 24, was raised in Madison where he attended the University of Wisconsin. He received his bachelor's degree in psychology and has completed work toward his masters degree in counseling and the behavioral studies, with emphasis placed on sheltered workshops and vocational rehabilitation administration.

Since his graduation, Lorenz has involved himself in a wide variety of clinical activities, including developing day care programs for handicapped children; the administration of personal development programs for delinquent boys and other programs involving the mentally and physically disabled.

In making the announcement, Voster said, "We feel truly fortunate in having a man like Lorenz within our organization. Under his direction, Goodwill will expand its services to the handicapped in the Fox Valley."

Lorenz has been director of rehabilitation at Goodwill Industries in Madison. During the past 14 months, Madison's client services to the mentally and physically disabled increased nearly 300 per cent.

"We attempt to help the individual modify his behavior so as to increase his ability to operate within a competitive industrial situation," said Lorenz, describing Goodwill's working philosophy.

Lorenz is married and has one child, and plans to make his home in Appleton. The recent death of the division's former manager, Dean Adams, created the vacancy.

Baboon Protests Transplant Study

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A fully grown male baboon, to have been used for kidney transplant research, gave doctors at Karl Bremer Hospital a vigorous chase when it escaped as it was about to be operated on.

It fled through a hospital window and was eventually cornered in the home of a police sergeant. A hospital official shot the baboon after it had spent 20 minutes in the house searching for food.

A Lawrence University student, Aileen S. Nakamura, a member of the class of 1970 from Kahului, Hawaii, was named among the $500 award winners in the fifth annual Educational Fund Awards program, an international competition sponsored by "Great Books of the Western World." At the presentation were (from left) J. W. Michels, Chicago, division manager of Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. Anthony Calavetta, Chicago, district manager, and Dr. Francis L. Broderick, dean of Lawrence and Downer Colleges.

nah, $6.18. These rates are 100 per cent of equalized valuation, but the cities included had assessment ratios ranging from Appleton's 45.46 per cent to Fond du Lac's 96.91 per cent.

The article indicated the figures showed the full value assessment for each city, as determined by the department of the revenue, the percentage ratio of the local assessment to the state full value assessment, and the total amount and rate on the local assessment for all purposes.

It also showed the full value tax rate, and the effective real estate full value tax rate after deducting personal property credits and amounts for state, county, local and school purposes.

Fox Valley Campus Closing Would Have Drastic Affects

Supv Orrin King, Oshkosh, said, "We should continue a couple of years and see if the state picks up the maintenance costs."

At that May meeting, the trustees adopted a proposal to ask each county to adopt a resolution endorsing state takeover of maintenance costs of the center system. This would still leave capital improvements costs as the local unit's responsibility.

But, nevertheless, trustees probably will not take action on the crisis until the state legislature acts on the bill whether to accept these maintenance costs.

Enrollment Problems

Meanwhile, conservative enrollment projections indicate the Fox campus will grow more and more inadequate, and in fact, it already has too many students per classroom square footage, according to State Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHHE) criteria. Enrollments should hit 688 this fall and 807 in 1970.

Whether the school closes, library and classroom inadequacies, strained by growing enrollment, could lead to the deterioration of the Fox Cities "touch" with the University of Wisconsin. For many students, it has provided an important stepping stone to university study and graduation.

For many students, it has provided the opportunity of existing and working in the UW atmosphere. Now, it is expected to play a similar role with the eventual goal being graduation from the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The Fox Campus comes under the control of the UWGB chancellor July 1. The campuses at Manitowoc, Marinette and Green Bay also join the UWGB system.

Fox Campus Dean Harry Hutson, and Henry Spille and Mrs. Lillian Gerould, student advisers, discussed the assets of the campus last week.

The Fox Campus is an ideal stepping block for the person who is unsure if he is college material; all his credits are transferrable to the Madison campus, UW-Milwaukee or UWGB, Spille said.

But money remains the major factor, said Mrs. Gerould. She quoted one student who said she had turned down a $500 scholarship to Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point because her parents could not afford to pay the difference.

"My family needs the money I would need to go to college," she had said.

Commuting to the Menasha-based school for two years allows other students to save enough to finance the last two years elsewhere.

A student commuting to the Fox Campus can get by for about $338 per year, including tuition, books, supplies and living costs. This is a third of the cost to live on campus at WSU-O and a fifth of the cost for the Madison campus.

This is assuming cost of living of $740 at Oshkosh and $945 at Madison, both higher than the Fox Cities, according to the schools' catalogs.

Funds Available

The Fox Campus advisers' office had state and federal funds of $24,550 in 1967-68 for loans, scholarships, and work study, which is money available for jobs on campus. Another $3,000 in local scholarship offerings also were available, Spille said.

The campus plays a vital role for others besides the post-high school student. In an interview last week, Mrs. Gerould re-lightning struck the antenna at 10:31 p.m.

The Winnebago County Sheriff's Department reported that a tree was blocking Ripple Avenue south of Oshkosh, and a highway department truck was dispatched and removed the tree.

A boat lift secured by steel posts in the Town of Neenah was lifted over a pier by high waves in Lake Winnebago. Jack Meyer, Paynes Point Road, said the steel pipes of the lift were twisted out of shape, sheet metal roofing was torn off the lift and the side of his boat was dented.

No Television

Power supplies to the television transmitters for all three Green Bay stations were damaged in the storm and programming was interrupted for about an hour and a half.

The transmitters, located on Scray's Hill in the Town of Glenmore, are served by two power sources and both were affected by the storm.

Programming was interrupted at about 10:48 p.m. and resumed at about 12:05 a.m. on WBAY and WLUK. WFRV had completed its programming for the day when power was restored, and therefore, did not return to the air until its regular 6:25 a.m. sign-on time today.

The chief engineer at WBAY said that Monday night was the first time in 15 years that both sources of power failed.

So widespread was the pattern of severe weather Monday night that tornado watches were in effect for varying times over portions of 10 states from the plains to the Great Lakes.

Twister Hits

A twister ripped before dark into the northwestern Wisconsin community of Solon Springs, south of Superior, and tore down power lines, sent pine trees crashing through some homes and unroofed part of the high school gym.

No one was reported injured, and the homeless moved in with friends.

The Dane County Sheriff's Department said it had received reports of two funnel clouds at about 11 p.m. north and west of Madison and also to the south and west.

The Madison Weather Bureau said the city had winds clocked at 75 to 80 miles per hour. Some damage was reported in the city to trees, utility wires and windows as Civil Defense sirens shrilled warnings.

Langlade and Forest County authorities said a tornado touched down in late afternoon in the Pickerel Lake area, about 20 miles south of Crandon. Two barns were destroyed.

Barns Destroyed

Sheboygan County, on the shore of Lake Michigan, also was hit by the storm about midnight. Two barns were destroyed, apparently struck by lightning, and numerous large trees and electric wires were knocked down by the strong winds.

Athletic and theatrical equipment marked the average college student today is over 21.

Many of these students include housewives whose children have grown up, giving them the opportunity to return to work. Business people also take on studies to earn a job promotion. UW extension courses are taken by many adults through the Fox Campus. These include business and nursing workshops, institutes and other studies.

Top-notch speakers appear on the Fox Campus, along with fine arts programs of drama, and music.

Jaycees Face Possibility of 'Dry Derby'

The Appleton Jaycees have a problem.

They want to have a beer stand in operation Sunday for the annual Soap Box Derby but lack a license.

Someone forgot to make an application in advance so the city council could have acted on it last week.

Now the Jaycees have appealed to Mayor George Buckley for help so it won't be a "dry" Sunday.

Buckley, noting that City Atty. David Geenen issued an opinion sometime ago cautioning him against issuing temporary bartender or tavern licenses, got in touch with Geenen Monday afternoon.

Geenen stood by his opinion but suggested the Jaycees might serve beer under a picnic permit.

"I'm giving the idea some thought," Buckley said today. "If it's legal for me to authorize a picnic permit, I'll do it."

In the meantime, the Jaycees are keeping fingers crossed that they will be able to be in the beer business come derby time.

ment was destroyed when a 30 by 90 foot barn owned by Lakeland College at Sheboygan burned about midnight.

The other barn was destroyed about a half hour later southwest of Greenbush.

Officially, Green Bay recorded the most rain — .98 of an inch. The Dubuque, Iowa, region had .95; Park Falls, .81; Eau Claire, .56; La Crosse, .53; Superior, .51; Wausau and Beloit, .32; Madison, .26; Lone Rock, .21; Pewaukee, .20 and Milwaukee, a trace.

Holy Smokes, Church 'Fire' Was Only Steam

What neighbors thought was smoke turned out to be only steam rising from the roof of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church at S. Mason and Lawrence streets at 10:25 p.m. Monday.

Appleton firemen were called to the church but reported that steam from the rain was mistaken for smoke.

Lessons Planned

KAUKAUNA — Musicians in grade or junior high school may register for summer lessons from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday in the high school office.

Lessons for high school students start later in the summer and students will be notified by mail of time for instruction. Initial lessons for students will be from June 17 to July 26.

High school instruction has been set for July 29 through Aug. 23.

Acting Manager of Reds Disputes Homer

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP) — "It wasn't even close, it was foul," groaned Cincinnati acting manager Vern Benson.

"It was fair or I wouldn't have called it," said umpire Stan Landes.

"It didn't make any difference," said Ernie Banks, "because Billy Williams got the hit that won the game with two strikes on him."

The controversy developed in the fourth inning of Monday's 4-3 Chicago Cub victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Banks, who had slugged a second-inning homer to tie the score at 1-1, hit his 11th of the year and 453rd of his career in the fourth to put the Cubs ahead 2-1.

SIU Upset by NC State in World Series

St. John's Sowinski Blanks Harvard On Four Hits

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — "That's the way it's been with us all year," said Sam Esposito, North Carolina State coach, after his club upset Southern Illinois 7-6 Monday night in the College World Series first round.

"First one boy, then another has been picking us up every game," said Esposito, a major league infielder for 10 years.

Third baseman Chris Cammack led the Atlantic Coast champions this time. He was 3-for-5 including a run-scoring double and scored the tying run in the ninth when he crashed into catcher Randy Coker, knocking the ball loose. Fred Combs then singled home the winning run.

St. John's of New York also did what it has been doing all year, winning with outstanding pitching. Tom Sowinski, senior right-hander with an expressionless face, shut out Harvard 2-0 on four hits.

Lowery's ERA

This lowered his season earned run average to 0.74 and made his record 10-1. He has given up only seven runs, all earned, in 86 innings St. John's 24-8, now has won seven straight, the last five on shutouts.

The first round of the NCAA's double-elimination tourney will be completed tonight, with Oklahoma State's Big Eight champions meeting Texas at 5:30 p.m. CDT, and top-ranked Southern California facing Brigham Young at 8 Harvard meets SIU in a loser's bracket game at 2.

OSU will send senior left-hander Bill Dobbs, 6-2, against James Street, 9-3. Texas' talented sophomore USC will start Bill Lee, 11-3, against BYU's Ken Crosby, 5-2.

Making Impression

Southern Illinois, ranked No. 2 behind USC in the final national coaches' poll, was making an impression with its white shoes, bat girls and a 4-1 lead in the seventh, when the pitching collapsed.

SIU's 11-game winner, 6-foot-5 John Susce, was watching in the stands. He was called in, donned a teammate's uniform and shoes—one size too small—and got the third out after North Carolina State tied it 4-4. SIU came back to get a 4-4 lead, then fell apart in the ninth.

Nancy Richey Wins Crown

Beats Mrs. Jones In French Tennis Tourney Finals

PARIS (AP) — Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, a tennis professional, got $600, but the glory went to amateur Nancy Richey.

Miss Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., defeated Britain's Mrs. Jones, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 Sunday and won the women's singles title of the French Tennis Championships.

Mrs. Jones is one of four professionals under American promoter George MacCall. They had the four top seedings in this tournament, and all were defeated.

Miss Richey ousted Mrs. Richey Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., in the semifinals. The two other pros are Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Francois Durr of France.

Many Errors

Mrs. Jones looked like she was going to win in straight sets as she forced Miss Richey into many errors in the first set and took a 4-2 lead in the second.

Miss Richey, however, reeled off 15 straight points and clinched the set with three love games. The Texas girl dominated the third set.

Mrs. Jones won $600 as runner-up. The first prize of $1,000 went back into pot since an amateur won.

Mrs. Jones also won $400 when she teamed with Miss Durr to win the doubles Saturday.

In mixed doubles semifinals Sunday, Mrs. King and Australian Owen Davidson defeated Miss Casals and South African Bob Hewitt 5-7, 6-3 and 6-1, and Miss Durr and Jean Claude Barclay of France eliminated South African Annette de Plooy and Africans Annette de Plooy and Frew McMillan 6-1, 6-1.

Ken Rosewall won the men's title Saturday by beating fellow-Australian pro Rod Laver 6-3, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2. In the all-pro men's doubles final Rosewall, Bryce Spehr, Jerry Meyer, and Australian Fred Stolle, downed Laver and Australian Roy Emerson 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Game Rained Out Majors' Top Pinch Hitter Would Rather Play Daily

By BILL HALLS
DETROIT (AP) — Gates Brown, the best pinch hitter in the major leagues, would rather play every day. But he's become resigned to the role of pinch hitter.

"Three swings when we're behind" as the Detroit Tigers pursue the American League pennant.

Despite his eight hits in 12 games, Brown slumped to .154 as a pinch-at-batter in his first year after hitting .325 in 49 appearances in 1966. But he was on the disabled list with a dislocated wrist from June 29 to Sept. 1.

His hitting won him the Tiger left field job in 1964, but he was soon back on the bench when Horton came along.

"I'm no Smokey Burgess," admitted a pinch home run in his first major league game, "but I can hit."

"I just hope I have a good year this year so I can go some place where I can play every day. Six years on the bench ain't for me."

Don Kettner's grand slam home run brought Black Creek from behind for a 5-3 triumph over Oneida Mission in a battle of the unbeaten in the Southern Division of the Dairyland League Sunday.

In the Southern Division Bonduel remained as the only undefeated team with a 6-2 win over Shiocton while Navarino suffered its initial loss, bowing to Bear Creek, 5-2, to drop into a 3-way tie for second.

Oneida Mission had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but then Black Creek cut the deficit with a run in the fourth and took the lead at 5-2 on Kettner's bases-loaded round-tripper in the fifth.

Kettner picked up the mound decision. He was nipped for eight hits and recorded 10 strikeouts. Loser Tony Skenandore allowed one less hit and fanned eight.

Bonduel tied Shiocton at 2-2 in the fourth, added the go-ahead run in the sixth and concluded with three markers in the seventh. Eugene Luebke had two hits and drove in three runs for the winners while Roger Boettcher had a pair of safeties and one RBI. Leon Drage and Glen Berkhan limited Shiocton to just four hits. They combined for 14 strikeouts and walked only two.

Bear Creek tallied four times in the third en route to its win over Navarino. Jim Norden went the distance, giving up seven hits and striking out 12. Page rapped out three hits for the winners.

Vancouver Seeks Franchise Young Claude Ruel To Coach Canadiens

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens have started a youth movement—behind the players' bench instead of on it.

In a surprising move Monday, the National Hockey League's most prestigious coaching job to a team's chief scout and won't turn 30 until Sept. 12.

Ruel succeeds Hector "Toe" Blake, who resigned last month.

The Sherbrooke, Que., native, known as a taskmaster, is younger than eight of his players.

"That doesn't bother me at all," Pollock said. "Others have made the jump from junior coaching to the NHL."

In other developments at the start of their annual four-day meeting, the NHL governors received a 12-page brochure and heard a presentation from Vancouver, B.C., which is seeking a franchise. The Canadian city had been after the Oakland Club, but the Seals recently announced they would remain in California.

The rules committee approved several changes for the coming season. Two of them involve goalkeepers.

On penalty shots, the goalie can now come out of his crease as soon as the shooter touches the puck at the center line instead of waiting for him to cross the blue line.

Also, when a goalie receives a major penalty along with an opposing player, the goalie's penalty must be served by a teammate on ice at the time. Other penalties to a goalie may be served by any teammate.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by John Behnke

Here's a strange fact from baseball... Did you know that two of the four men with the highest lifetime batting averages in baseball history are NOT in the Hall of Fame? ... Only four men have finished their careers with lifetime averages over .350... They are Ty Cobb (.367)... Rogers Hornsby (.358)... Joe Jackson (.356)... and Pete Browning (.355)... But of the four, only Cobb and Hornsby are in the Hall of Fame... Jackson is not eligible because he was removed from baseball in a betting scandal in 1920... But Browning could be elected, but he never has—even though he has the fourth best lifetime batting average of all-time!

Here's a golf quiz... Place these famous golfers in their proper era by matching them with the year each won the U.S. Open: Gene Sarazen, Cary Middlecoff, Walter Hagen and Lawson Little... Here are the years: 1919, 1932, 1940 and 1949... Now, here's the answer... Hagen, 1919; Sarazen, 1932; Little, 1940; Middlecoff, 1949.

Did you know that Orlando Cepeda, who has been a star now for many seasons at first base in the big leagues, began his professional baseball career—not as a first baseman—but as a third baseman... Cepeda played third base on the first two minor league teams he played for when he got started back in the mid 1950s.

I bet you didn't know... The new Jack Nicklaus slacks are here—3 new shades, ribbon, belted.

Use Homemade Supplies for The Word-Spelling Game

BY CAPPY DICK

Kaukauna Woman Fined After Accident
KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Charlotte Bockorny, 28, 426 W. Seventh St., pleaded guilty to failure to yield right of way resulting in an accident and was fined $10 Friday by Municipal Justice Clarence O'Connor. Mrs. Bockorny was arrested following a collision with a motorbike in which two people were injured Wednesday.

five print "O" and on five others print "U". That makes 30 cards.
On the balance of 42 squares print two each of the 21 remaining letters of the alphabet.
Place the 72 squares in the paper bag and shake it to mix them thoroughly.
There may be two or more players. At each turn a player reaches into the sack and withdraws three letters and, placing face-up before him, tries to turn them into a word of at least three letters. Two-letter words are not permitted.
Any letters which the player cannot use must be placed face-up to one side. He will be allowed to draw from them later, if he can use them. It is then the next player's turn to draw out three letters.

Italy Urged To Seek New Government

ROME (AP) — President Giuseppe Saragat asked Mariano Rumor of the Christian Democratic party Monday to try to form a new Italian government.
Rumor's chances of forming another coalition government with the Socialists, an alliance which would have a majority in parliament were considered poor. But the Christian Democrats and the Socialists were under great pressure to get together again to deal with student violence and other social ills.
The Socialists had been allied with the Catholic party for five years in a government headed by Aldo Moro. The Socialists withdrew from the coalition after suffering heavy losses in the general election last month, contending they lost ground because the Christian Democrats would not pass enough reform legislation.
Moro continues as caretaker premier while Rumor tries to put a government together.
Rumor, a mild, soft-spoken man who wears heavy horn-rimmed glasses, took over from Moro as secretary of the Christian Democratic party in 1964. Now 52, he held various sub-cabinet posts under the late Alcide De Gasperi and was minister of agriculture and forests in three successive governments.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Do not say, "I feel badly about the matter." Say, "I feel BAD about the matter." "To feel BADLY" is to have a bad sense of touch.

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Pecund. Pronounce feh-kund, accent first syllable.

OFTEN MISSPELLED: Paeon (hymn of joy or praise); observe the "aea."

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: QUID PRO QUO; one thing for, or in place of, another; tit for tat. "Governmental officials and agencies often employ the bargaining method of quid pro quo."

Steiger Calls Import
Quotas Long Overdue

Says Action on Milk, Cream Products May be Sign of Relief to Dairy People

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Oshkosh, said today President Johnson's action in imposing import quotas on condensed and evaporated milk and cream was long overdue.

Steiger also said the president's order to the U. S. Tariff Commission to investigate the need for quotas on a number of other dairy products "may be a sign that our dairy people are going to get relief from the continued flood of milk products into this country."

The president's order includes such products as chocolate milk, crumb, edam and gouda cheese, Italian cow's milk cheese not in whole loaves, Swiss cheese, miscellaneous cow's milk cheese classified as "other cheese" in the U. S. tariff schedules, and quotas.

Kaukauna Recreation Area
Dedication Planned for Doty Bayorgeon Park

KAUKAUNA — Official dedication and the unveiling of a monument at the Doty Bayorgeon Recreation Area starts at 5 p.m. Saturday, according to Mayor Gilbert Anderson.

Working with the mayor in planning the program are Alds. William Rogers and Russel Dix, James Gertz, recreation director, and David Flanagan, public relations representative for the Electric and Water Utility.

Anderson will serve as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Mark Schommer will give the invocation and James McFadden, utility commissioner and a friend of the late Mayor Joseph "Doty" Bayorgeon, will be main speaker. James Bayorgeon, a son, will say a few words on behalf of the Bayorgeon family.

The combined Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion firing squads will fire a 24-gun salute to conclude the program. Civic and industrial leaders from throughout the Fox Valley have been invited together with many friends of the former mayor.

11 TERMS

Bayorgeon served as mayor in Kaukauna from 1946 to 1968 and was in his 11th term of office when stricken with a heart attack. He long worked for improvement of the recreational program and facilities in the city, being one of the main supporters of a swimming pool and mainly responsible for the development of the area being dedicated.

The recreation area houses two softball diamonds, a baseball diamond, football field, track, archery range and outdoor basketball court. Further development also is being planned for the future.

The first regular monthly meeting of the Appleton Board of Education was held in the Superintendent's Office on Monday, May 13, 1968. The meeting was called to order by the President, Charles Buchanan.

The following Board members were present: Messrs. Buchanan, Sager, Roberts, Summich, Whitely and Mrs. Heil. Absent: Mr. Schneider.

Mr. Whitely moved that the minutes of the April 23, 1968, meeting be approved as circulated. Second by Mr. Sager and carried.

Hearing of delegations was called for with the following response:

The Reverend Ralph Sandgren, member of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council, read and distributed a statement, "Why Fox Valley Schools Should Actively Recruit Non-White Teachers". Mr. Buchanan deferred further action or comments to New Business.

Mr. Sager read the Certificate of Recognition - Appleton High School West which had been awarded at a meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Secondary Schools. The certificate was presented to the principal of the school, Mr. J. J. Freeman, with the way his department has conducted itself with regard to imports while the school suffered, Steiger said.

"The department repeatedly refused to act," Steiger said. "The action by the president is overdue, and Freeman should have advised him to take this action long before this."

The quotas on condensed and evaporated milk and cream will remain in effect, pending completion of an investigation by the U. S. Tariff Commission, including recommendations on the need for permanent import and export quotas.

Mr. Buchanan asked approval to again request a date to appear before the Wisconsin State Board of Education to present a five-year capital improvement program. Board concurred.

Mr. Summich moved, seconded by Mrs. Heil, that the gift be accepted and a resolution be passed expressing the gratitude of the Board of Education, Motion carried.

The Superintendent's Report was presented and the Board took action as follows:

Mr. Sager moved that the General Fund List in the amount of $123,321.52, Voucher Nos. 2795 through 2800, be approved and certified to the City Clerk for payment. Second by Mr. Summich and carried on roll call vote.

Mr. Whitely moved that the Appleton High School Building Fund Bill in the amount of $2,381.62, Voucher Nos. 615 to 624, inclusive; Highlands Elementary School Building Fund Bill in the amount of $11,397.55, Voucher Nos. 279 to 283, inclusive; McKinley Elementary School Building Fund Bill in the amount of $6,630.00, Voucher Nos. 284 to 288, inclusive; and Madison Junior High School Addition Building Fund Bill in the amount of $2,353.00, Voucher No. 19, be sent to the City Clerk for payment. Second by Mr. Summich and carried on roll call vote.

Mrs. Heil moved that the Appleton Public Schools Operating Statement, Appleton Elementary School, Appleton High School East, McKinley School, Appleton High School West, and Appleton Building Fund Statements, the Appleton Public Schools Clearing Account, and Appleton High Schools East and West be approved and certified to the City Clerk for payment. Second by Mr. Summich and carried on roll call vote.

Mrs. Heil moved approval of a change order for McKinley Elementary School, General Contractor, Chas. Gombosky Company, to provide insulation to ceiling of boiler room at additional cost of $425.00. Second by Mr. Roberts and carried on roll call vote.

Mr. Whitely moved approval of the following resignations and contracts: Resignation - Effective June 7, 1968, Second by Mrs. Judith Sikora, Mrs. Judith Slang, Miss Beatrice Temp, Miss Karen Kere, and the cost of the school building fund statements, the Appleton Public Schools Clearing Account, and Appleton High Schools East and West be approved and certified to the City Clerk for payment. Second by Mr. Summich and carried on roll call vote.

Mrs. Heil reported briefly on a recent state-wide meeting of the Coordinators and Board of Control members from the Wisconsin Cooperative Educational Service Agencies and to which the local CESA 8 was host. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the progress of the agency which began operation on July 1, 1965, and to set goals.

Under new business, the statement from the Fox Valley Human Rights Council was discussed. The Superintendent indicated that representatives from the Appleton Public Schools interviewed teachers at all colleges and universities in Wisconsin in an attempt to recruit non-white candidates. During his tenure, he has been able to recruit one Negro applicant has come to Appleton for an interview. Following further discussion it was decided that the matter of non-race teacher recruitment be studied, although the Board of Education already has a non-discrimination policy of hiring the best qualified teacher regardless of race, color or creed.

Adjournment was moved by Mr. Heil, seconded by Mr. Whitely, and carried.

When the strike started they were reportedly 31 cents apart on a new three-year pact.

Bombardment by Day Starts Against Saigon

Rockets Hurled Into Heart Of Vietnamese Capital During Morning Rush Hour

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong switched to daytime bombardment of Saigon today, slamming some 30 big rockets into the heart of the city during the morning rush hour. The barrage killed at least 19 Vietnamese civilians and wounded 106.

It was the heaviest casualty toll—and the first major daytime bombardment—since the Viet Cong began almost daily shelling of the capital 38 days ago. The barrages have killed at least 128 persons and wounded 519.

U. S. Military Asked to Move Base in Japan

Crash of Jet Adds To Growing Feeling Against Installations

TOKYO (AP) — Troubles increased for the U.S. military in Japan today. A special committee of Japanese cabinet members urged that the United States be asked to relocate an air base. The Tokyo City Council demanded a ban on visits by nuclear warships and student demonstrators blocked a gunpowder shipment.

Sentiment against American bases in Japan, which is constantly fanned by the Socialists in their campaign to scrap the U.S.-Japan security treaty, increased markedly this month after an American jet based at Iwakuni Air Base crashed on the Kyushu University campus.

Despite a U.S. promise to curtail night flights, the cabinet committee recommended that Prime Minister Eisaku Sato ask the United States to move the air base to another site.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Toshio Kimura said even if the full cabinet agrees, no formal request will be made to U.S. authorities until a number of alternate locations can be offered.

The U.S. Embassy declined to comment until a formal request is made by Sato.

Sources said the Japanese are considering asking the United States to share the Japanese air bases, at Tsuiki or Miyazaki, which like Iwakuni are on Kyushu, Japan's southern island.

World's Different Upside Down

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — John Thomas Zimmerman emerged from his dim, topsyturvy world Monday and promptly got sick.

His world had been topsyturvy because for three weeks, his only vision had been through strange-looking glasses that made everything he saw appear upside down and backwards.

His world had been dim because the glasses afforded only a narrow, barely light 7-degree field of vision, compared with normal vision of about 180 degrees.

The nausea came when he took off the glasses and found himself dizzy and disoriented at seeing things right side up again.

Despite the discomfort, the 19-year-old Zimmerman was pleased because his experiment had been fruitful.

The study, and a 2½-month stint with right side up, but reversed, glasses before that, were aimed at learning how mind and body reactions adapt when the eyes see things as they are not.

Eventually, he said, it is hoped the pilot studies will assist man in helping the mind and body—possibly with the aid of hypnosis—conquer vision defects. Zimmerman, a freshman at the University of Colorado, has been nearsighted since he was born prematurely, tipping the scales at 30 ounces.

For his latest tests, he wore glasses with periscope-like prisms mounted on them.

"It feels like I'm walking upside down," he said. A firsthand view through the odd spectacles—while Zimmerman kept his eyes closed—showed such sensations as watching one's own feet appear to be approaching, and instinctively reaching to meet a proffered handshake with the left hand.

Zimmerman was able to get around rather well, though his motions were of necessity deliberate. With the limited field of view, "it's a choice of watching where I'm going and stumbling over something, or watching my feet and not knowing where I'm going," he said.

There were some embarrassing moments too. He said a girl friend and another girl were standing beside each other, and with the vision reversed, "I hugged the wrong one. They both gave me heck."

Extradition Process Started

Plans for Quickest, Safest Return of Ray Being Laid

LONDON (AP) — U.S. legal experts worked today on plans to take James Earl Ray quickly and safely back to the United States for trial while police on both sides of the Atlantic continued their investigation to learn whether Ray had helped in his four-nation flight.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday night by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Some legal experts suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was held in Brixton Prison after his two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun, the charges on which he was arrested at London Airport Saturday under the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Police equipped with walkie-talkies threw a cordon around the prison and blocked all roads leading to it. Unauthorized persons were kept at least 150 yards away.

Scotland Yard was reported planning to move Ray from Brixton, three miles south of downtown London, to Wandsworth, a jail in a western suburb. Security at Wandsworth has been tightened since Ronald Arthur Briggs, one of the Great Train Robbers, disappeared over the wall there four years ago.

Ray at his first court appearance Monday was assigned a British lawyer at his own request and ordered held without bail for another hearing June 18 on the passport and gun charges.

If extradition proceedings are brought, the court will require evidence of a case against Ray and he will then have 15 days to appeal to the High Court. If Ray's lawyers raised points of law there, a further appeal might be made to the House of Lords and the process could take months.

Some experts saw a precedent for the deportation of Ray in the case of Robert Soblen, who fled from the United States to Israel in 1962 after being sentenced to life imprisonment on charges that he was a Soviet spy. En route back to America, he stabbed himself and was taken off a plane at London for treatment.

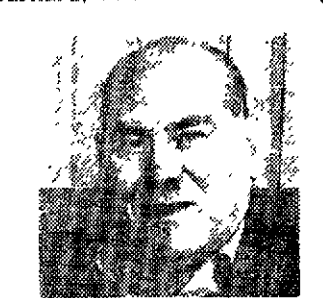

The British government ordered Soblen out of the country as an undesirable alien and an appeals court ruled the move legal. But Soblen took poison while being sent to the airport and died.

Transplant Survivor

Blaiberg III With Liver Complication

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient, received emergency treatment for a liver complication today. Groote Schuur Hospital announced.

In London, Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, who headed the surgical team that gave Blaiberg a new heart Jan. 2, said Blaiberg had hepatitis and his condition was "not critical."

Blaiberg, 59, returned to the hospital for routine tests June 4, five months and two days after he received the world's third transplanted human heart. He was transferred Monday to the special sterilized suite he had occupied after the operation. Meanwhile: 6th grai A041.

Chest Infection

Meanwhile Britain's heart transplant patient, Frederick West, 45, was suffering from a chest infection that developed three days ago. But the National Heart Hospital in London said he improved slightly Monday night and the improvement was maintained today. West was operated on May 3.

Blaiberg received his new heart in the Groote Schuur team's second transplant. The first was performed on Louis Washkansky Dec. 3 but he died 18 days later of pneumonia.

Since the historic first transplant operation on Washkansky 20 other heart transplants have been performed around the world. Six of the recipients are still alive.

Doctors had consistently reported Blaiberg's condition as "excellent" since his Jan. 2 operation. He recovered steadily after the surgery, and was sent home on March 16.

Since then he has returned to the hospital twice a week for checkups and spent a week in the general ward last month for routine medical tests.

"I am feeling fine," he said then. "There is no cause for concern."

Stop and Frisk

Judgment of Beat Cop Wins Approval of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, accused for crime prevention and detection, has bowed to the judgment of the cop on the beat.

As a practical matter, said eight of the nine justices Monday, he can't be expected to run off to a judge for a warrant every time his practiced eye picks out suspicious behavior.

Moreover, the eight agreed, it is only reasonable that he pat down the suspect or suspects if he fears his questions may be answered with a bullet or a knife-sweep.

Such a search is a reasonable search under the fourth amendment, the justices concluded, "and any weapons seized may properly be introduced in evidence against the person from whom they were taken."

Chief Justice Earl Warren assigned himself the job of announcing the landmark criminal law decision, as he has so often in the past.

It is precisely the government's interest in "effective searches, but 'unreasonable searches and seizures'."

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting alone, said "the infringement on personal liberty of any seizure of a person can be reasonable under the fourth amendment if we require the police to possess probable cause before they seize him."

Since the majority gave policemen power to stop and frisk before they have probable cause to arrest, Douglas said his eight colleagues had taken "a long step down the totalitarian path."

Need For Enforcement

"We cannot blind ourselves to the need for law enforcement officers to protect themselves and other prospective victims of violence in situations where they may lack probable cause for an arrest," he said.

The constitutional basis for the court's endorsement of police stop-and-frisk powers is that the fourth amendment prohibits not all searches and seizures, but "unreasonable searches and seizures."

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting alone, said "the infringement on personal liberty of any seizure of a person can be reasonable under the fourth amendment if we require the police to possess probable cause before they seize him."

Since the majority gave policemen power to stop and frisk before they have probable cause to arrest, Douglas said his eight colleagues had taken "a long step down the totalitarian path."

Help Police

"Perhaps mindful of the court's critics," Douglas continued, "There have been powerful hydraulic pressures throughout our history that bear heavily on the courts to water down constitutional guarantees and give police the upper hand."

"That hydraulic pressure has probably never been greater than it is today."

New Crisis Threatens in France

PARIS (AP) — A Communist union militant was killed today in a clash with riot police in a provincial city as student and striker turmoil threatened to plunge France into a new major crisis.

In Paris, Latin Quarter university students rioted and built barricades and appealed to the trade unions and people of Paris to join them in a mass demonstration tonight against President Charles de Gaulle's government.

Several thousand Citroen auto plant workers streamed toward the Labor Ministry shouting for "freedom to work" after having been turned back from their plant by strike pickets.

The prefect (governor) of the Sochaux region, Bernard Vau-

gon, told a news conference that the union member, identified only as Beylot, 24, was fatally wounded by a bullet in his chest. The prefect did not say who fired the shot. The bullet was being examined to attempt to determine its origin.

Sharp fighting between riot police and strikers broke out at the Peugeot auto plant at Sochaux after workers had voted narrowly, 2,664-2,615, Monday for a return to work.

The worst fighting occurred when strikers overwhelmed a riot police car, took guns from the car and set it afire. Several shots rang out.

Authorities said that, besides the dead man, 11 strikers and two riot police were injured.

Police Aggression

The metal workers branch of the Communist-run General Confederation of Labor — France's strongest union — issued a statement charging Beylot was a "victim of aggression of the police placed in the services of the bosses by the government, against the metal workers fighting for their demands."

The Peugeot plant strikers are among several hundred thousand holdouts demanding higher wages and other benefits.

The death was the fourth attributed directly or indirectly to the student and strike crisis which began a month ago.

The first was a Lyon police commissioner, Rene Lacroix, who was crushed by a stone-loaded truck pushed by student demonstrators.

A real estate worker, Philippe

Matteron, 26, was found stabbed to death May 26 after a Paris Latin Quarter riot. Gilles Tautin, 17-year-old high school student, drowned Monday in the Seine River at Meulan, near Paris. Tautin was with a group of students who were attempting to flee on-coming gendarmes.

Student Rioting

The student rioting early today in Paris was touched off by Tautin's death, which the students blamed on the gendarmes.

"We are not looking for a fight," Jacques Sauvageot, chief of the National Students' Union, told a news conference, "but if it is forced on us, we accept."

Daniel Cohn-Bendit, 23, a leader of the radical "March 22 group" of students was at the news conference but took no part in its proceedings.

Cohn-Bendit's red hair, for which he has been nicknamed "Danny the Red" was still dyed black, the disguise he used to return clandestinely from exile in his homeland, West Germany.

Newsmen and students sat at the conference in the headquarters of the students union wiping their eyes and sniffing from the lingering effects of tear gas used in fighting eight hours earlier between police and students.

Talk With DeGaulle

Premier Georges Pompidou went to the Elysee Palace shortly after noon and spent 40 minutes with President de Gaulle.

They obviously discussed the revival of trouble, in which from eight to 10 million workers were at one time on strike.

Angry university students ranged through the Latin Quarter in Paris through the night and clashed with riot police. Police said that 26 persons were hurt, though only one had to be hospitalized, and 22 demonstrators were arrested.

In Paris, several thousand workers from the Citroen auto plant paraded toward the labor ministry, demanding the right to work. Strike pickets stood guard at their plant.

At Plins, near Paris, the Renault auto plant said that 3,520 workers returned today, but more than 6,000 were still off the job. The main Renault plant on the outskirts of Paris also was still strikebound, with the strikers seeking additional wage and other benefits from the government, which runs the huge auto works.

At Lyon, several persons were hurt in a clash between strikers at the Berliet truck plant and technicians. The strikers drove the technicians and a company official from the plant.

Crowds Prompt Action Lake Control Measures Are Okayed by Seymour Council

SEYMOUR — A sweltering weekend and an overcrowded swimming beach prompted the city council Monday night to reassess the situation and make plans for better control.

During the past weekend crowds estimated in excess of 3,000 used the swimming lake and they came in more than 1,000 cars.

According to reports by beach attendants, cars were parked in restricted areas, in no parking zones, and on the park grass, and approximately 40 persons were swimming before guards arrived for the 11 a.m. opening.

Install Gate

The Council agreed to install from as far as New London and a gate at the park entrance off Green Bay. Approval also was State 55 and have a city policeman called in for special duty when the situation warrants his assistance.

In other plans to be carried out during the summer, the Council agreed that Lake Road and the parking lot, that abuts the dressing room area be built for dust control; lights will be installed at the shelter-house; and the restroom facilities; dikes will be fenced off to keep the overflow crowds from tearing down the embankments and all persons entering the lake area will be required to purchase a ticket. The latter was approved because the Council felt persons using the beach only deprived swimmers from participating.

In a final effort to control swimming, the council agreed to make spot checks on seasonal ticketholders to assure more than one family is not using the pass.

Season Passes

Also the Council agreed that season passes should be sold only to Seymour and immediate rural route residents. Records show that swimmers come from as far as New London and Green Bay. Approval also was given to use the Outagamie County fairgrounds for overflow parking.

The park commission also was instructed to set a standard capacity for using the lake. It was brought to the Council's attention that the city had the dressing room area be built for dust control; lights will be installed at the shelter-house; and the restroom facilities; dikes will be fenced off to keep the overflow crowds from tearing down the embankments and all persons entering the lake area will be required to purchase a ticket. Effective in July President to Leave New London District

NEW LONDON — The resignation of Gordon Reidenbach, board of education president, which will be effective July 1, was accepted Monday by the board of education.

Reidenbach, a board member for five years, has built a new home and will be moving from the New London school district in the near future.

Reidenbach's successor will be named at the July 8 board meeting.

Resignation of Mrs. Alice Murray as city-school nurse also was accepted by the board. Her resignation also is effective in July.

School Nurse

The board discussed the need for a school nurse and then decided to wait until the city health committee and city council acts before reaching a decision.

On a unanimous vote the board decided against getting any details on a Reserve Officer Training Corps program for the junior and senior high schools.

H. James Gabriel, representative of Edgar A. Stubenrauch & Associates, Sheboygan architectural firm, said final plans for the new elementary school would be completed in two weeks and would be ready for final board approval.

The board decided final specifications and plans would be approved at the July 8 meeting. Gabriel indicated bids would be opened about Aug. 1 on this schedule.

Two Sentenced On Battery Count At New London

NEW LONDON — Two local youths were sentenced to 60 days in the Waupaca County Jail Monday after they pleaded guilty in Municipal Justice Court to city police charges of battery.

John J. Frenche, 20, and Gerald R. Magolski, 19, whose addresses were given as New London, were sentenced to the jail terms without any fines by Municipal Justice O. W. Capener. The two youths must serve out their sentences.

Capt. Raymond Oberstadt said the offense occurred about 3 a.m. Sunday near Division and Pine streets when two 16-year-olds on their way home from work were stopped by the pair.

The two older youths reportedly beat up the 16-year-olds causing serious injuries. Oberstadt said one of the injured youths had a broken nose and swollen lips while the other had facial bruises and a severely swollen nose.

Calumet Court,
Gets Four Years

CHILTON — Vernon Koenig, 49, route 1, Menasha was sentenced to four years in the State Prison at Waupun, a year each for four separate charges, when he appeared Monday before Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebor.

Koenig had pleaded guilty to the charges at an earlier court appearance. They included charges consolidated from Outagamie, Waupaca, Polk and Winnebago counties, besides Calumet, and occurred from Feb. 9 to 14.

With sentences to run concurrently, Koenig received one year for theft of an $8,000 ring owned by Mrs. Priscilla Catlin, route 1, Menasha; a year for two counts of worthless checks in Winnebago and four in Outagamie, and another year for a similar charge in Waupaca.

Koenig also was sentenced to one year for carrying a concealed weapon in Polk.

Koenig was represented by a court-appointed attorney.

Price Up $1,000 Chilton to Rent Classrooms

CHILTON — Rental of four classrooms for the 1968-69 year from St. Mary Catholic School was approved Monday by the board of education, with the price up $1,000 over a year ago.

The board was told basic conditions of the agreement were the same, except the new rental charge will be $4,000.

The rooms, being rented for a second year, will house first and second grades, which has experienced significant enrollment gains because of a parochial student influx.

The increase is the result of parochial schools disbanding, partly because of parochial teacher shortages, the board learned.

Transportation Study

In other business, the board decided a study and more discussion was needed on transporting handicapped children to Calumet County Park for a three-week Day Care Camp, beginning July 9. There also is a question of who will absorb the transportation cost.

Arthur J. Horst, board president, said it would be wise to contact other schools and coordinate the plan. Eleven pupils from the Chilton district will attend the camp.

Reporting on new teachers, Supt. A. W. Gordon said four were recommended to be hired, and reported vacancies for four teachers. They are in seventh grade social studies, eighth grade English, and an elementary speech correctionist.

In the high school, Gordon said a teacher of American history and math is needed to replace James Eisner, who is leaving. Someone also is needed to take over track and junior varsity basketball.

Hiring Approved

The board approved hiring the teachers, as Gordon added he felt the district was in better shape this year than last year.

Hired were Mrs. Grace Brenner, English and world history; Mrs. Arline Hacker, fourth grade; Philip Parker, eighth grade science, and Mrs. Leslie Youngsteadt, fourth grade half days.

The board also approved the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association insurance coverage for the summer school elementary pupils. The cost is $143.

Notification was received from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools the high school is approved as a secondary school.

A communication was read from Dick Kasten, WBAY-TV farm director, lauding the Chilton FFA Chapter and adviser, Norman Pautz, for a unique and aggressive effort. It was the result of their recent activities at a banquet at Potter

Board Asks Record Budget For New London Schools

1968-69 Proposal Shows Raise Of $225,000 Over District's Previous Year's Expenditures

NEW LONDON — A proposed 1968-69 school budget calling for record expenditures of $1,675,711 will be presented at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. July 8 in the senior high school commons, the board of education voted Monday.

After the hearing the board of education will adopt the budget and set a tax rate. Because of the nature of the school district, electors do not directly vote on the budget or levy.

This year the district operated with a $1,440,554 budget. The previous record high was the 1966-67 proposal which called for $1,585,288 in expenditures.

1968-69 Expenditures

Operational budget expenditures for 1968-69 are estimated at $1,622,915 (not including $52,796 to be raised by a $1 per $1,000 equalized valuation sinking fund) compared with operational expenditures of $1,400,184 this year.

Increases in the budget are expected to result in a $1.98 per $1,000 equalized valuation increase in the tax rate for 1968-69. None of the increase is due to the construction of a new elementary school which will be paid for through the sinking fund.

The rate is expected to be $17.73 per $1,000 equalized valuation, compared with $15.75 this year. Both rates include the $1 for sinking fund.

Raise $52,796

When applied against an equalized valuation of $52,796, the sinking fund will raise $52,796 during 1968-69 compared with $52,796 being raised on a valuation of $50,370,400 this year.

Total district levy for 1968-69 will be $936,073 if the budget is adopted without change. The present budget required $793,333 to be raised by direct property taxation.

The record tax rate in the district was $19.90 which was set for the 1964-65 school year. Rates decreased for two years and then began an increase a year ago. The increase was 15 cents higher than the previous year.

A comparison of the operational budgets (not including amounts raised or expended by the sinking fund) shows costs are anticipated to increase $222,731 next year. Of this amount, $198,045 will be the result of instructional cost increases. Teacher salaries represent 30 percent of the total.

Architect for VTE-12 Nears Announcement

Number of Items to be Worked Out Before Selection Officially Made

An architect for the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) school will probably be selected Monday.

That was the indication Monday at a special meeting of the VTE-12 board. The board had hoped it could make the final decision this week, but according to Russell Williams, Oshkosh, the board's legal counsel, there were a number of items in the agreement that had to be worked out.

Another item that was tabled until a future meeting was a proposal on financial accounting and budgeting.

It is hoped that the program, briefly explained by George Kaiser of Arthur Andersen and Company, accountants, could be developed and adopted for all of the vocational systems in the state, making an uniform accounting program. It approved by the state board, Area 12 may serve as a pilot district.

In other business, International Harvester Company, Milwaukee, was awarded the contract for two tractors and a straight truck for their bid of $37,198. They will be used in the truck driving program which will be offered at Oshkosh this fall.

Starts This Week Blacktopping Okayed For Seymour Streets

SEYMOUR — A check of city streets to be blacktopped and maintained during the summer was given final approval Monday night by the city council.

Outagamie County highway crews are scheduled to start work on the maintenance program this week.

A seal coat will be placed on Depot Street and E. Wisconsin Street from Main Street to Mill Street. Oil will be placed as a dust preventative on the end of W. High Street from the existing curb and gutter to the city limits and on Morrow Street, west of Grant Street and one block on Seymour Street, Foot Street, Droeger Street and Henry Street to the city dump.

In other action, the council dismissed a proposed study on mosquito control after it failed to pass a council vote. Aldermen felt there were too many contradicting views on the effects of insecticides, many believing they have a toxic effect on gardens and disturb the balance of nature by killing desirable insects.

Bids Tabulated

Tabulation of bids for sidewalk, curb and gutter and crushed rock and bituminous concrete were reported. Contracts will be awarded at the next meeting. Tabulations were made by Paul Bishop, of McMahon and Associates, Menasha, the city's consulting engineering firm.

Bloy Construction Co., Appleton, was the low bidder for the curb, gutter and sidewalks with a bid of $16,310. MRK Construction Co., Seymour, was low for the crushed rock with $7,810 and Murphy Construction Co., Black Creek, was low for the concrete with $6,357.

Other action included:

Fair Rental

—Requesting the school district to recommend a fair rental for storing school furniture in the city hall basement until school starts in the fall. Two city hall rooms will be rented for classrooms until the new Rockledge school is finished later in the year.

—Approving a service agreement for the cash register used at the concession stand at the lake.

—Requesting a meeting with the architect that designed the new city hall to make plans to complete repairs before final acceptance.

—Approving a one-day beer license to the city baseball team for June 23, 28 and July 28.

Clintonville Man Pays $110 Traffic Fine

CLINTONVILLE — Lynn E. Jepson, 20, 15 E. Second St., pleaded guilty to charges of hit and run, and non-registration of a vehicle, when he appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court after his arrest June 6 by the city police.

Jepson was fined $100 on the first charge and $10 on the second, and the case was held open until June 20.

The police reported a car owned by Sandra Lee Grace, Spokane, Wash., was parked at the curb in front of 90 Eighth St. when it was struck by the Jepson car about 10:45 p.m.

Jepson, after striking the left rear fender of the parked car with his vehicle, proceeded west on Eighth Street without stopping. Estimated damage to the 1961 model car operated by Jepson was $200, and to the 1966 model parked car also $200.

No Disruption 75 Demonstrate at UW Graduation

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — About 75 students demonstrated but failed to disrupt the University of Wisconsin's 114th annual commencement ceremony Monday as more than 3700 of their fellow students received degrees.

The demonstrators, aiming at expressing their opposition to the war in Vietnam and the nature of the modern university, were among the degree candidates sweltering in 90 degree heat in Camp Randall stadium.

The demonstrators, carrying protest signs and wearing white arm bands against their black robes, walked out of the stands and onto the midfield as bachelor degrees were to be awarded.

They marched to the platform on which sat Gov. Warren P. Knowles, UW President Fred Harrington and the University's Board of Regents, and turned to face the bachelor degree recipients as they marched onto the field.

The demonstration was planned last week by the Ad Hoc anti-draft seniors committee, although not all of the demonstrators are enrolled as students.

15,000 Watch

Their protest was viewed by a crowd of about 15,000 persons. As the demonstrators marched out of the stadium after the awards ceremony was completed, Raymond Dvorak, retiring UW band director, led the band and crowd in singing the national anthem.

The demonstration capped a ceremony in which 3790 students received degrees ranging from a doctorate of philosophy to bachelor degrees in nursing. University officials conferred four honorary degrees on distinguished civic leaders and scientists during the earlier and quieter portions of the ceremony.

Honored were Howard H. Aiken, emeritus professor of applied mathematics at Harvard University; Albert E. Whitford, former UW astronomy department chairman and now head of the University of California's Lick Observatory. Also awarded honorary doctor's degrees were U.S. Justice Department civil rights leader John Doar, and Theodore W. Schultz, economics professor at the University of Chicago.

Knowles told the graduating students that they should "begin today toward increasing your contribution on making this world a better place to live in."

"You have an absolute responsibility to stabilize these troubled times," Harrington, noting that he was a friend of the late New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said the students should emulate his career of public service.

Turning to the university's problems of student dissent during the past year, Harrington said that some had advised him to use his commencement speech to speak out against campus disruption.

"The University of Wisconsin will not give way to repression. The University of Wisconsin is a place for dissent. It is not, however, a place for violence."

The student demonstrators bore signs throughout the ceremony ranging from "War is a Good Business — Invest Your Son" and "B.A. — A License to Kill" to "Regents Support Racism."

The latter sign, referred to student demands last month the UW sell its stock in a New York bank which has made loans to South Africa.

As the students descended from the stadium to receive their degrees and headed toward the demonstrators gathered below, there were shouted threats and calls to throw the demonstrators out. No violence broke out.

The senior class president, John P. Goggin of Fontana, gave the class gift to university officials as the demonstration was forming. The Class of 1968 has established a scholarship to be awarded to poor minority group youths who could not afford a college education without aid.

Tornadoes in State

Storm Brings Heavy Rain, Little Damage

Thunderstorms and lightning blamed much of the power cracked in to the pre-dawn outage on wet branches striking hours in the Fox Valley Area hot wires and lightning striking today resulting in heavy rain, power transformers.

The Oshkosh Fire Department was called out three times but no fires were reported. The most severe damage was done to a television set of a homeowner. The set burned out when lightning struck the antenna at 10:31 p.m.

Elsewhere, tornadoes ripped through the extreme northwest-ern part of the state causing damage but no injuries. Rains started to fall in Appleton at about 9:30 p.m. Monday and the precipitation not only removed much of the high humidity in the air, but eased the water shortage, anticipated if the predicted rainfall failed to materialize.

Wisconsin Michigan Power Company, Appleton, reported that lightning was the major problem, causing individual customer damage for varying periods of time.

UW's Fox Valley Campus Future Is Uncertain

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What would happen if the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Campus was closed at the end of this semester?

For one thing, it would mean that about 175, or 25 per cent, of the students planning to attend next fall would give up the idea of a college education -- for financial or emotional reasons.

Those with emotional reasons are the students who either scholastically fear a larger academic environment, at least initially, and the ones who must grow up a little more before leaving home.

One Fox Campus official said the great majority of students are there partly because of financial reasons.

Closing the eight-year-old school would have other effects. It would eliminate the prestige of having an extension of the University of Wisconsin system and the cultural atmosphere that accompanies a college or university.

Present Theory

It would be a step back from the state's present theory about higher education. This is the Wisconsin idea and it states: "The boundaries of the campus are the boundaries of the state."

The board of trustees does not believe the school on Midway Road will close. Nor do those close to the UW system.

But neither do they discard the possibility that no immediate expansion could force Fox Campus administrators to limit enrollment in future years.

At a recent meeting, one Outagamie County trustee said the public may not be shocked into facing the problem until the savings begin to turn away students.

It would be a sad state of affairs if the child of parents who have supported the institution eight years would be turned away," commented Supv. Russell Delafant, Kaukauna. Dela-fant has led the effort to resolve the enrollment crisis.

Concern over the Fox Campus' future has grown during past months as trustees failed to come up with a solution to the inadequacy of present facilities.

Dr. L. H. Adolffson, UW Center Systems chancellor, warned trustees in December to begin immediately to plan for a new Fox Campus facility to be opened in 1970. Unless trustees acted quickly to secure larger facilities, a temporary enrollment limitation might be necessary, he said.

However, Winnebago County trustees have refused to support immediate action. In May, Supv. Orin King, Oshkosh, said: "We should continue a couple of years and see if the state picks up the maintenance costs."

At that May meeting, the trustees adopted a proposal to ask each county to adopt a resolution endorsing state takeover of maintenance costs of the center system. This would still leave capital improvements costs as the local unit's responsibility.

But, nevertheless, trustees probably will not take action on the crisis until the state legislature acts on the bill whether to accept these maintenance costs.

Enrollment Problems

Meanwhile, conservative enrollment projections indicate the Fox campus will grow more and more inadequate, and in fact, if already has too many students per classroom square footage, according to State Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHHE) criteria. Enrollment should hit 638 this fall and 807 in 1970.

Whether the school closes, library and classroom inadequacies, strained by growing enrollment, could lead to the deterioration of the Fox Cities' "march" with the University of Wisconsin. For many students, it has provided an important stepping stone to university study and graduation.

For many students, it has provided the opportunity of earning and working in the UW atmosphere. Now, it is expected to play a similar role with the eventual goal being graduation from the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The Fox Campus comes under the control of the UWGB chancellor July 1. The campuses at fine arts programs of drama, Manitowish, Marinette and music.
